PHARMACOPOEIA BATEANA.

LIBER III.

Of Compound Externals.

CHAP. I.

Of Lotions or Washes.

I. Acetum Lithargyrites, A Lotion of Litharge.

Bate.] ℞ Litharge of Gold in fine Pouder ℥iv. best Whitewine Vinegar ℥viij. mix, digest three days, stirring it often, and filtering it. It is design'd for the cure of redness of the Face, Pustules, &c.

Salmon.] § 1. Besides this, it is very drying, repercussive and anodyn, and a very good thing to ease the Pain, and take away the Paroxysms of the Gout.

§ 2. It cools and therefore takes away the violent heat of Anthony's Fire: and put into the Eyes, it is of singular use to take away their heat, redness, and inflamation; and withal, to dry up any Rheum, or violent hot Humor falling into them.

§ 3. But in these last cases it will be much more effectual, if to every Pint thereof three Ounces of good Spirit of Wine be added, for then it will not only resist the Disease, but also strengthen the parts afflicted.

II. * Aluminatum; A Preparation or Lotion with Alum.

Bate.] ℞ Juice of Limons ℔j. Alum ℥ss. boil and despumate, S. A. It prevails mightily against redness of the Face, Pustules, &c. drinking in the mean season Cerevisiam Catapsoras, the Preparation of which see lib. 2. cap. 4. sect. 10.

Salmon.] § 1. You are to bath it upon the Skin three or four times a day, or oftener, and it ought to be done as hot as you can conveniently do it.

§ 2. It cools and clears the Skin excellently; but if Saccharum Saturni ℥ss. were added, it would yet be much better.

III. * Dentilavium Scorbuticum, A wash against the Scurvy in the Teeth.

Bate.] ℞ Bistort-roots, Seeds of Scurvy-grass, A. ʒij. Alum ʒj. Mastich ʒiij. boil in fair Water, q. s. to ℔j. strain, and add Honey of Roses ℥ij. mix and make a Lotion

Salmon.] § 1. You are to wash the Teeth, and gargle the Mouth and Throat therewith, if any Ulcers be there four or five times a day, or oftner.

§ 2. If the Ulcers run much, and a Catarrh seems to be present, add to the Composition, Saccharum Saturni ʒss.

IV. * Fotus Arthriticus, A Fomentation for the Gout.

Bate.] ℞ Sage, Rosemary, Camomile, Mugwort, Hypericon, common Wormwood, A. M. vj. Bay Salt, M. iij. Water three Gallons; boil to two Gallons, then strain out for a Fomentation.

Salmon.] § 1. You are to bath with it as hot as it can be endured, and the Gouty part ought (if it can conveniently be) to lie in it for some time.

§ 2. You may repeat it three or four times a day or oftner, as need requires: it infallibly gives ease: but sometimes is apt to send the Gout into the Stomach, and then the Remedy is worse than the Disease, for it may chance to kill the Patient.

§ 3. Preparatives and Universals therefore ought to be given before-hand, that the Morbifick matter may be either evacuated in part, or the Stomach defended by proper Antidotes, which may have power to resist the assaulting Disease.

V. * Fotus Scorbuticus, A Fomentation for the Scurvy.

Bate.] ℞ Mugwort, Hypericon, Scurvy grass, of both kinds, Ground Pine, A. M. iij. Wormwood Common and Roman, A. M. iv. Rosemary M. ij. Wild or Horse Radish-roots, ℥iv. Water q. s. mix and boil, S. A. for a fomentation.

Salmon.] § 1. Bathing with it hot, it gives ease in the Scorbutick pains, and takes away the discolouring of the Scorbutick spots.

§ 2. It may be used twice or thrice a day, or oftner as you see need require: anointing the pained Parts with this Mixture. ℞ Oil of Nutmegs by expression ℥ss. Oil of Rosemary gut. 10. Champhire, gr. vj. mix them.

VI. * Gargarisma Album, The white Gargarism.

Bate.] ℞ Plantane-water ℥iij. red Rose-water ℥j. Whites of Eggs (reduced to Glaire) No iij. Sugar-candy ℥j. mix and make a Gargarism. Otherwise thus. ℞ Roots of Althea ʒiij. Quince-seeds ʒiss. Barley-water ℔iiss. boil to ℔iss. towards the end add Liquorice scraped or rasped ʒij. Strain and add Glair of Eggs, No ij. Sugar-candy, ℥ij. mix and make a Gargarism. With which the Mouth is often to be washed and gargled, and by degrees a little of it swallowed for the Thrush, &c.

Salmon.]

Salmon.] § 1. Either of them are cooling and cleansing, and leave the Mouth moist in the heat of a Feaver.

§ 2. But if it be used for the curing of a Thrush, or sore Mouth, a Decoction of Balaustians would do better than the Barley-water, adding also a little Spirit of Wine.

VII. * Gargarisma Apoplecticum, A Gargarism against Apoplexies.

Bate.] ℞ Mustard seed in Powder, Spirit of Castor, A. ℥j. Vinegar of Roses ℥j. make Mustard thereof, S. A. to which add, a strong Decoction of Rosemary and Betony A. ℔j. Honey of Roses ℥j. mix them.

Salmon.] § 1. It attracts Flegm and watery Humors strongly out of the Head and Brain, and gives relief in all those Diseases which proceed from a Fulness or Obstruction of those parts.

§ 2. You may use it several times a day at first; and very liberally at Night going to Bed, because then the Head will be kept warm: afterwards it may be used only Morning and Night for some days.

VIII. * Gargarisma Scorbuticum, A Gargarism against the Scurvy.

Bate.] ℞ Rosemary M. j. Cloves, № 40. Salt of Scurvy-grass ℥ij. Omphacine ℔iij. boil to ℔j. It is good for putrid Gums in the Scurvy.

Salmon.] § 1. If the Gums be putrefied, or Cankers be present in them, it must be often used in a day at least five or six times, till it is apparent that the putrefaction is mastered.

§ 2. After that you may gargle with White-wine, wherein a little Salt of Scurvy-grass is also dissolved.

IX. * Gargarisma Synanchium, A Gargarism for a Quinsie.

Bate.] ℞ Jews Ears ℥j. white Dog's Turd ʒvj. Bramble Leaves, M. j. red Roses, M. ss. Doves foot, M. ij. Figs № viij. Water, q. s. boil to ℔ij. strain, and add Elder Vinegar ℥j. Honey of Roses ℥iij. It is good against Ulcers of the Mouth, Thrushes, &c.

Salmon.] § 1. If it be used to gargle with, in Quinsies, it is better made with Water, than any thing else; but if it be for Thrushes, Ulcers of the Mouth and Throat, &c. then Red or Claret Wine is better than Water.

§ 2. In the first Cases it ought to be often used; to abate the Inflamation, or discuss the Tumor if possible; and as often in the latter Case, where cleansing the Ulcer is required.

X. * Pedilavium Emmenagogum, A Wash to provoke the Terms.

Bate.] ℞ Mugworth, Pennyroyal, Calaminth, Camomile, A. M. iv. Water, q. s. boil to ℔viij. With which wash the Feet.

Salmon.] § 1. If you would have it effectually to perform the Work, there ought to be so much, as the Woman may sit in up to the Waste, for then it will have a particular Operation upon the Womb.

§ 2. Then after coming out of the Bath, the Matrix it self at least the outward Sheath ought to be anointed with this Mixture. ℞ Oil of Nutmegs, by Expression ℥ss. Oil of Savin, gut. x. Musk, gr. iv. mix them.

XI. * Pedilavium Hypnoticum, A Wash inducing Sleep.

Bate.] ℞ White Poppy heads, No xx. white Poppy-seed ℥j. Leaves of Lettice, M. iv. Flowers of Water-Lillies, M. vj. Violets, M. iss. Water, q. s. boil them. They provoke Sleep.

Salmon.] § 1. It is a good Medicament, as it is here prescribed, but if you add to it in the boiling Opium ℥ss. it will be so much the better; and then to bath with it hot.

§ 2. The Opium being added to it, as soon as the bath is over, and the Sick in Bed, let the Forehead and Temples be bathed with the same.

XII. * Pedilavium Podagricum, A Wash for the Gout.

Bate.] ℞ Rosemary, Hypericon, Penny-royal, Bay-leaves, Mugwort, A. M. iij. Bay-salt ℥xij. Sal Armoniack ℥ij. Wheat Bran ℥vj. Water two Gallons, boil, and add Castile Soap ℥ij. Spirit of Wine ℔ij.

Salmon.] § 1. It gives ease in the Gout by washing, but it endangers the sending the Humor up into the Stomach, unless beforehand evacuated, or the Stomach is fortified by some proper Antidote which may resist it.

§ 2. If Opium ℥j. be dissolved in the Wash, it will yet be more effectual to the Intention.

§ 3. Immediately after the Wash is over, apply over the place pained this Emplaster. ℞ Oil Olive ℥j. Camphire ℥ss. grind them together, and add Frankincense ℥v. melt, mix, and spread it on Cloth or Leather.

XIII. * Pedilavium Scorbuticum, A Wash against the Scurvy.

Bate.] ℞ Rosemary, Penny-royal, Bay-leaves, Hypericon, Water-cresses, A. M. iij. common Salt ℔j. Water, q. s. boil them, S. A.

Salmon.] § 1. It eases Scorbutick pains of the Feet, and takes away Spots of the Scurvy, and other Scorbutick Symptoms attending the Feet, or those parts which are washed with it.

§ 2. You may wash with it three or four times a day, but twice a day at least; if Salt of Potashes ℥iij. be put into it, it will cleanse more powerful, and better answer the Intention.

APPENDIX.

XIV. Aqua Murifragii: The Gun shot, or Wound Water of Lemery.

Salmon.] § 1. ℞ Leaves of Bugle, Leaves and roots of Comfrey, Mugwort, Sage, A.M.iv. Agrimony, Betony, Daisies, Fennel, Figwort, Ox-Eye, Plantane, Sanicle, Vervain, Wormwood, A. M. ij. Birthwort, Centory the less, Fluellin, Hypericon, Hyssop, Mint, Mouse-Ear, Orpin, Speed well, Tobacco, Yarrow, A. M. j.

§ 2. Let all these herbs be cut and bruised in a Mortar together, put them into a large Earthen Vessel, and affuse thereon White-wine ℔xij. stir them with a Stick or Rowler, and stop the Vessel, digesting in hot horse-dung, or a like Sand heat for three days.

Universitäts- und Landesbibliothek Düsseldorf urn:nbn:de:hbz:061:2-30811-p0698-9 DFG

§ 3. This done, put all out into a large Copper Cucurbit, tinned within: fit to it a Bolt head, Refrigeratory, and Receiver, and draw off the Liquor with a gentle fire as is usual in distilling, so have you an admirable Vulnerary water, which keep in a Glass bottle close stopt for use.

§ 4. This water says he is good for Contusions and Dislocations, and to discuss Tumors, being outwardly applyed; it also cleanses Wounds and Old Ulcers, and is profitable (which I know by experience) being applyed to running Fistula's.

§ 5. It renews or regenerates Flesh in hollow Ulcers, strengthens weak parts, hinders putrefaction of the Flesh and Humors, and puts a stop to Gangreens: if inwardly given, it represses Vapors in Women.

§ 6. Lastly, you may dry the Mass of herbs after distillation, calcine them in an open Fire, and with Water make a Lixivium of the Ashes, from which you may elicite the Salt by evaporation; this Salt dissolve in the afore distilled water, and it will become of a more detersive and dissolving Quality.

XV. Aqua Vulneraria Optima; The great Vulnerary Water.

Salmon.] § 1. ℞ Angelica M. X. Agrimony, All-heal, Avens, Bawm, A. M. viij. Betony, M. vj. Bistort, Bugle, Centory the less, Ceterach, Comfrey, Consound Saracens, A. M. iv. Daisies, Fennel, Figwort, Fluellin, Fumitory, Hypericon, Hyssop. A. M. iij. Herb Trinity, Ladies mantle, Melilot, Mint, A. M. vij. Mouse Ear, Orpin, A. M. iiss. Parsley, Periwinkle, Plantane, Sage, Sanicle, Scordium, Smallage, Speedwell A. M. v. Scabious, Self-heal, Solomons Seal, Tobacco, Valerian, Vervain, Winter green, Wormwood, Yarrow, A. M. j.

§ 2. Cut and bruise all these herbs together, and put them into a large narrow mouthed Earthen Jar, and affuse thereon fair Water Gal. vj. good Brandy or Aqua Vitæ Gal. vj. English beer, Gal. iv. mix all well together, and stop the Vessel close up, digesting in a gentle Sand heat for four or five days, or somewhat longer.

§ 3. This done, put all into a Balneo Mariæ, and distil off the humidity to dryness, after the usual manner of distilling; so have you an Incomparable Vulnerary water, of almost infinite Vertues.

§ 4. The Fæces you may calcine in an Open fire, and by boiling the Ashes in a sufficient quantity of Water make a Lixivium, which filter and over a gentle heat in Sand evaporate to dryness, so have you a Salt, which is to be mixed with the former water, to augment its Virtues, and sanative faculty, as applyed to Wounds and Ulcers.

§ 5. It cleanses filthy Ulcers and Fistula's, being washed therewith, and injected therein with a syringe, and being applyed to Contusions by gently binding on a Spunge dipt therein, it induces a discussion of the Tumor, and dispersion of the Blood and humors there gathered together.

§ 6. It is an admirable Vulnerary water being applyed to simple green Wounds, causing their speedy healing, without the intervening of Accidents.

§ 7. It not only cleanses Wounds and Ulcers, but also removes Accidents, incarnates, and with much facility produces a Cicatrize catrize, altho' in ill habited Bodies.

§ 8. But in case of Old Ulcers, stubborn Fistula's, Kings Evil, Sores, Gun-shot Wounds, and other Malign and ill conditioned Ulcers, it is necessary, (as well to apply it outwardly) to take it inwardly ab ℥iss. ad ℥ij. or iij. two or three times a day, viz. Morning, Noon, and Night, dulcifying it a little.

§ 9. It has not only all the Vertues of the former water, but much exceeds it to all the purposes and Intentions which that is designed for.

CHAP. II.

Of OILS.

I. Galbanetum Hartmanni, Hartman's Oil of Galbanum.

Bate.] ℞ Galbanum, p. j. Spirit or Oil of Turpentine, p. ij. digest and distil by Retort. S. A.

Salmon.] § 1. You must not fill the Retort above a third part full, then put to the Receiver and Lute the Juncture, and distil in Sand, or a naked fire, but with degrees of heat, first very gentle so as to warm the Retort, and by degrees increasing it to the highest, so will you have an Acid Spirit, a Volatile white Oil, then a yellow Oil, and at last a thick red Oil or Balsam, which you may keep by themselves as they come over by changing the Receiver.

§ 2. The Acid Spirit and Volatile white Oil, will come over nearly together, and therefore may be taken in one Receiver, and afterwards separated.

§ 3. The other two may be taken severally as you please, or drawn together, if you intend them only for an outward use.

§ 4. The Acid Spirit may be separated from most of its Flegm by distillation in a Bolt-head; it is Sudorifick and Diuretick, opens Obstructions of the Lungs, Reins, and Womb, provokes Urine, and expels malign Humors thro' the Pores of the Skin. Dose, gut. 30. 40. or more.

§ 5. The Volatile Oil is accounted a Specifick against Sand, Gravel, and Stone, whether in Reins or Bladder, and prevails against the Cholick. Dose, gut. 10. ad 20.

§ 6. The yellow Oil and Balsam are good against Fits of the Mother, Vapors, Wind. Dose, gut. iij. ad vj. outwardly, they are vulnerary, cure Ulcers and Fistula's, and ease all sorts of Pains, chiefly those of the Gout.

II. Galbanetum Sennerti, Sennertus his Oil of Galbanum.

Bate.] ℞ It is made as the former adding Chymical Oil of Lavender ℥j. and and distilling S. A. It is a wonderful Remedy against the Palsie, being anointed upon the part affected.

Salmon.] § 1. The Acid Spirit has the Vertues of the former, and may be given in the same Dose.

§ 2. The Volatile white Oil, has the Vertues of the former also, and given in the same Dose; it is a famous thing against the Palsie, and Convulsions, both inwardly taken, and outwardly anointed upon the parts: It gives ease in a cold Gout, and in all Pains proceeding from Cold.

§ 3. But if you design the whole Distillation only for an external use, it will be best to draw them all off together, and afterward to separate from them the Acid Spirit; so will the Volatile Oil, yellow Oil, and red Balsam, mix together, which is the Galbanetum of Sennertuus.

§ 4. It cures Cramps, Convulsions, Palsies, Lameness, Aches and Pains in any part; as also green Wounds, old Ulcers, Gouts, &c.

III. * Oleum Bufonum, Oil of Toads.

Bate.] ℞ Live Toads N iv. boil them in Oil-Olive, ℔ij. for one hour, or till they break; then strain and keep it for use. It is good against Pustles of the Lips, and Cancers of the Breasts; it is also prevalent against the Dropsie, and provokes Urine, being anointed on the Reins.

Salmon.] § 1. It is said to be an excellent thing against all manner of Breakings out of the Skin; of what kind soever; and cures a red Face, more especially if mixt with a small quantity of Flowers of Sulphur.

§ 2. I am informed that an old Man who had been troubled with the Gout for forty Years, by anointing the places affected with this Oil for some time, was perfectly cured thereof, so as he never had any more Fits of it.

IV. * Oleum Cosmeticum, A beautifying Oil.

Bate.] ℞ Oil of bitter Almonds ℥iv. Oil of Tartar per deliquium ℥ij. Oil of Rhodium, gut. iv. mix them, S. A. It cleanses the Skin, and smooths it.

Salmon] § 1. It brings off the Skin, but by degrees; it makes not the Face raw, but makes it fall off in manner of a Scurf.

§ 2. If there be Worms in the Face, it kills them all, brings them forth of the Skin, leaving their holes behind, which afterwards fill up again.

§ 3. It ought to be used three or four times a day, or oftner, and to be continued for five or six Weeks more or less, as you see occasion. It will smart a little, but without any other detriment, and at length leave the Skin very smooth, clear, and white.

V. * Oleum Cremoris, Oil of Cream.

Bate.] ℞ The inner green Bark of Elder fresh gathered, M. iij. the best Cream ℔ij. boil them well, till the Cream turns to an Oil, press out, and add more fresh Bark of Elder, M. iv. boil again till the Bark grows crisp, and then express the Oil. It is one of the best of Remedies against the Piles, Burnings, and Erysipelas, &c.

Salmon.] § 1. It is good against Inflamations of all kinds, as also Burnings and Scaldings of all sorts, by anointing therewith and dipping a Linnen Cloth in the same (if need requires) and laying it over the Affect.

§ 2. In using it for the Piles or an Erysipelas; it ought to be often anointed, at least five or six times a day; and in the latter you may lay it on with a Feather.

VI. * Oleum Milvinum, Oil of Kites.

Bate.] ℞ Young Kites or Gleads from the Nest, or older with Magpies, No iv. let them be exenterated and deplumed; and boil them in black Cherry-water, q. s. adding Peony-roots ℥iij. Castor ℥j. Rue, M. iij. Flowers of Rosemary and Lavender, A. M. ij. Flowers of Hypericon ℥j. Roots of Valerian ℥ij. add Oil-Olive ℔ij. and boil till they come to a Mash, or are boiled to pieces; press forth, and the Oil which swims on top take off, and keep for use. At the time of an Epileptick Fit, anoint the Soles of the Feet, Nostrils, and Nape of the Neck, with this Mixture. ℞ Of the aforesaid Oil ℥j. Chymical Oils of Rue and Savin, Ana. ℈j. mix them.

Salmon.] § 1. It is chiefly to be done (if used preventively) three days before and after the Full and New Moons; otherwise I should chuse to use it Morning and Evening the whole Month throughout.

§ 2. During the Unction it will be good also to give inwardly gr. iv. ad x. or xij. (according to Age) of the Volatile Salt of Kites, in some proper Vehicle every Morning fasting.

VII. * Oleum Paralyticum, An Oil against the Palsie.

Bate.] ℞ Mustard-seed ℔iij. Castor ℥ss. Cloves ℥ij. Nutmegs ℥iij. S. V. ℥vj. heat all well and digest them together in B. M. for twenty four hours, then strongly press forth the Oil with a Press. Often anoint the Back-bone, Nape of the Neck, and parts affected therewith.

Salmon.] § 1. It is a good thing if used according to this Composition and Preparation, but it will be much more powerful if you add to it a third part of Oil of Amber.

§ 2. You ought to use it to all the parts affected, and that Morning and Evening for many days together, giving inwardly Volatile Salt of Vipers.

VIII. * Oleum Pomosum, Oil of Thorn Apple Leaves.

Bate.] ℞ Fresh Leaves of Stramonium bearing Thorn Apples ℔j. bruise them and add Oil-Olive ℔iiss. boil to the Consumption of the Juice; express and add fresh Leaves ℔ss. Insolate for fourteen days, then boil to the Consumption of the Juice, and press out. It quickly heals, even to a Miracle all Inflamations, and all sorts of Burnings, whether by Fire, or boiling Water, melted Lead, or Gun-pouder, or by Lightning.

Salmon.] § 1. If the Skin be not broken, you need only to anoint it upon the place affected, but often.

§ 2. If

Universitäts- und Landesbibliothek Düsseldorf urn:nbn:de:hbz:061:2-30811-p0702-6 DFG

§ 2. If the Skin be broken, it will be best to apply it Plaisterwise, and so bind it up till the Fire is drawn out; and till that is done, no healing can be expected.

IX. Oleum Ranarum, Oil of Frogs.

Bate.] ℞ Live Frogs, N° xij. Oil-Olive ℔ijss. boil them for an hour, and express the Oil. It cures Redness of the Face and Impetigo, helps Erysipela's and Gangreens, and is a Specifick against Cancers.

Salmon.] § 1. It is a good thing for the Intention, but in my Opinion, Oil of Toads is much before it, to all the Purposes mentioned.

§ 2. It is admirable also against the Gout, being anointed Morning and Evening, and applied to the Part mixt with Barley Meal, as a Pultice.

X. * Oleum Scorbuticum, The Oil against the Scurvy.

Bate.] ℞ Horse Raddish-roots ℥vj. Scurvy-grass, M. iv. Lavender-flowers, M. ij. Neats-feet Oil ℔j. boil with a gentle Fire to the Consumption of the Juices; press out, and add Spirit of Salt ʒ*iij. Spirit of Scurvy-grass* ʒ*j. Oils of Cinnamon and Cloves*, A. ʒ*ss. Oil of Origanum* ♈iv. mix them. With this Oil the Parts affected are anointed once a day, for half an hour very warm.

Salmon.] § 1. But where Scorbutick Pains affect in a cold habit of Body, you must (besides anointing with it) apply it as a Pultice to the Parts affected, by mixing it with Pouder of Elecampane and Bay-berries, Ana.

§ 2. In a cold Gout it is also a Specifick, first anointing with it, and then applying it in a Cataplasm, as before directed.

XI. Oleum Τριχοφυὲς Trichophues, An Oil for restoring Hair fallen.

Bate.] ℞ Fresh Southernwood bruised ℔ss. old Oil ℔iss. red Wine ℔ss. boil till the Herbs are crisp; then strain out: repeat this Work the third time with new Southernwood: strain out, and add Bear's-grease ℥ij. mix them well. It is mightily commended for the Cure of an Alopecia, or for like falling off the Hair.

Salmon.] § 1. Τριχοφυὲς significat, quod capillos restituit: And Dioscorides uses it in that Sense, where he saith, Τριχοφυὲς ἀλοπέκιον, &c. Lib. 2. Cap. 97.

§ 2. You must before you anoint rub the bald places with a warm coarse Cloth, till they look very red, or you may do it with an Onion in like manner.

§ 3. Then anoint with this Oil, rubbing it well in for half an hour at a time, and this repeat three or four times a day, for six Weeks together at least.

XII. * Oleum Tritici, Oil of Wheat.

Bate.] ℞ It is made by strongly expressing bruised Wheat, between hot Iron Plates, so as the Oil may come forth. It is admirably good against Chops in the Hands, Ulcers of the Feet, or Kibes, Chops of the Lips, Herpes, Scabbiness of the Skin, &c.

Salmon.] § 1. You may anoint therewith three or four times a day, but chiefly at Night going to Bed, and apply over where it is necessary this Emplaister. ℞

Empla-

Emplastrum Diapalma ℥j. of this Oil ℥j. Wax ℥ss. mix them.

§ 2. It is anodyn, abates Inflammations, and is good against Scurf, Dandrit, and other Foulnesses of the Head in Children, being anointed on the Part.

XIII. Oleum Viperarum, Oil of Vipers.

Bate.] ℞ Large, fat, live Vipers, No 3. Spanish Wine ℥ij. Oil of Hypericon ℥viij. put them into a Vessel with a narrow Mouth, boil in B. M. to the Consumption of the Humidity, and then press forth the Oil. It cleanses the Skin, heals the Impetico, &c. takes away Gouty Tophs, cures the Leprosie.

Salmon.] § 1. It is indeed a good thing to cleanse the Skin, but it must be long used, except it be fortified with some of the Volatile Salt of Toads.

§ 2. And that it might the more effectually answer the Intention, while this Oil is used outwardly, the Volatile Salt of Vipers ought to be taken daily inwardly, whereby the malign Acid, which is the cause of those Distempers, will be effectually mortified.

CHAP. III.

Of BALSAMS.

I. Balsamum Anodynum, A Balsam easing Pain.

Bate.] CAstile Soap ℥j. Opium ℥ss. Camphire ʒvj. Saffron ʒj. Alcohol of S. V. ℥xviij. digest in Sand ten days and nights, then strain. Dip Linnen Rags in it, which apply to the pained Parts, renewing the Application every fourth hour, till all the Pain ceases. It wonderfully allays the Pains of the Gout. Internally it is also given, gut. 30, 40, 50. in Wine.

Salmon.] § 1. It is indeed a famous Balsam for easing of Pains, whether inward or outward: outwardly applyed, it ought to be renewed oftner than our Text prescribes.

§ 2. Inwardly given, it not only prevails against the Gout, Rheumatism, &c. but is of singular use against the Cholick, Gripings of the Guts, and the Stone, whether in the Reins or Bladder.

§ 3. It provokes Sleep, and causes rest, and therefore ought to be given at Night going to Bed.

§ 4. Given, ad ʒij. iij. or iv. in a Clyster, it heals the Bloody-flux, and stops all other Fluxes of the Bowels.

II. * Balsamum Fœminarum, The Balsam for Women-kind.

Bate.] ℞ Of the small Flowers of the musked Crane's Bill, ℥iv. Oil of sweet Almonds new drawn lbiss. insolate forty days; then express out: add fresh Flowers of Water-lillies and of white Lillies, A. ℥iv. insolate again twenty days; and express the Oil; to which add Oil of Jessemy

Jessemy ℥iv. Civet ʒj. mix S. A. and make a Balsam. Anoint therewith the Perinæum, Groins, Loins, and Flanks of Women, Ἐν τῇ δυσοχίᾳ, in pariendi difficultate, who have hard Labour, or are not easily delivered.

Salmon.] § 1. The Oil is much better made by boiling till the Flowers are crisp; and they may all be put in at once, as well as at several times, by which means it will also be sooner done.

§ 2. But it will be no perfect Balsam without the addition of some proper Resin, of which kind are Turpentines of all sorts; to the former Oil, after expression, you may add, Strasburgh Turpentine, Balsam Capivi, Balsam of Tolu, Chio Turpentine, A. ℥ifs. Liquid Styrax ℥iv. which mix well.

§ 3. Being thus compounded, it will be much more powerful for the intended purpose, besides which it will be a very good Vulnerary; and if any of the Parts be hurt or torn in the bringing forth of the Child, it will speedily and safely heal them.

III. * Balsamum Lucatelli, Lucatellus his Balsam.

Bate.] ℞ The best Oil-Olive ℔iij Spanish Wine ℔j. Venice Turpentine wash'd in Rose-water ℥viij. Wax ℔j. boil S. A. adding red Sanders in fine Pouder ℥ij. Balsam of Peru ℥j. mix them. Outwardly applied, it is good against Burnings, Inflamations, Ulcers, Wounds, &c. Inwardly it is given, ad ʒj. or ʒij. in Wine for inward Bruises, Ulcers of the Reins, Stone in the Reins and Bladder, Difficulty of making Water.

Salmon.] § 1. In making of this Balsam, some few things are observable; first, That the Turpentine is better unwasht than washt, because some of its most Volatile, Spirituous, and Essential parts are lost in that Agitation.

§ 2. Secondly, That Strasburg Turpentine much exceeds the Venice in this Occasion, as being much more Fragrant and Balsamick; and Cyprus and Chio are yet still better than that.

§ 3. That where such Balsamick Resins are used, it is not good to boil much the Balsam, after the mixing of them, because much of their Spirituous and Volatile parts fly away in that Action, and therefore it is best to boil the Oil and Spanish Wine together first, to the Consumption of the Humidity; and then to add the Resins, mixing them only by a gentle melting together, not boiling.

§ 4. That the Balsam of Peru is too little in quantity, ℥ivss. is as small a proportion as can be put into this quantity, to add any thing of Vertue to the Medicament; and if instead of ℥ivss. you allow ℥ix. the Balsam will be very much the better.

§ 5. In our Pharm. Lond. Lib. 5. Cap. 2. Sect. 50. you may see it, according to the Colledges Prescript, which is in much differing Proportions.

§ 6. The Red Sanders ought to be added after it is off the Fire, and the boiling heat abated, otherwise it will not be of any good colour, and then to be stirred continually, till it is almost cold.

§ 7. When I make it for my own use, my Proportions are these. ℞ Oil-Olive ℔iij. Spanish Wine ℔j. boil to the Consumption of the Wine; then add the best Bees-wax ℔j. when it is melted, put in Strasburgh, Cyprus, or Chio Turpentine ℔ifs. Balsam sam of Peru ℥viij. Red Sanders in fine Pouder ℥iij. melt, mix, and stir it till it is cold. 'Tis a Balsam without compare.

IV. Balsamum Mamordicæ, Balsam of the Balm-Apple.

Bate.] ℞ It is made of the Fruit thereof, being insolated for a long time in Oil. It is one of the best of things against Wounds and Ulcers; a most admirable thing against the Hæmorrhoides or Piles, Ulcers of the Womb, Ruptures, &c.

Salmon.] § 1. I humbly conceive that by Momordica, our Author intends nothing more nor less than the Balm-Apple, and in that Sence we have taken him.

§ 2. But most Herbalists take Momordica to be the Balsamita mas, which is clearly another Plant, and bears no such Fruit as the Balsamina, Viticella, or Balm-Apple Plant does.

§ 3. This Oil is temperate, in respect of the first qualities, vulnerary, and cures Pains, chiefly of the Hæmorrhoides; it is also good for wounded Nerves, Burnings, Ruptures, &c.

V. Balsamum Nucistæ, Balsam of Nutmegs.

Bate.] ℞ Nutmegs bruised, or beaten ℔j. Spanish Wine ℔ss. pure new made Butter without any Salt in it ℔ij. put them all into a Vessel, which stop close, and insolate for five days; then boil gently to the Consumption of the Wine, and strain out the Balsam. Its use is as well internal as external. It expels the dead Child, and brings forth the Secundine or After-birth, &c. It is exhibited in Wine ad ℥ss. it eases also the Pains of the Head and Spleen, &c. outwardly it is anointed upon the Part to ease all Pains proceeding from Cold, or cold Causes.

Salmon.] § 1. This is nothing more or less but an Artificial Oil of Nutmegs by expression made by addition of the fresh Butter.

§ 2. The insolation and boiling being over, whilst very hot, you must press out the Oil, but it must be with an Almond Press, as they make Oil of Almonds, or Oil of Nutmegs by expression; otherwise a great deal of the Strength and Oil of the Nutmegs will be left behind.

§ 3. It comforts the Head and weakned Viscera, and is an excellent thing against Ulcers of the internal Parts, it discusses Wind, and gives ease in the Cholick to a wonder.

VI. Balsamum Sclopetarium, A Balsam for Gun-shot Wounds.

Bate.] ℞ Oils of Linseeds and Turpentine, A. ℔j. Verdigrise ℥ss. boil them a little, S. A. It is used against Gun-shot Wounds, and old Ulcers, for which purposes it has no equal.

Salmon.] § 1. It is an excellent thing against Burnings and Scaldings of all kinds, whether with naked Fire, boiling Water or Oil, boiling Pitch or Wax, melted Lead, or other Metals, Nitre, Gun-pouder, &c.

§ 2. Lay it on with Lint (the Part being anointed with it) and then a proper sticking Plaister over it; it will take out the Fire in a very short time, and soon after heal the Ulcer.

§ 3. It is esteemed also a most excellent thing for the healing all sorts of putrified Sores, old Ulcers, running running Fistula's, &c. doing those things which scarcely any other outward Medicine will do.

VII. Balsamum Spinale, A Balsam for the Back.

Bate.] ℞ Man's Grease ℥iv. Goose Grease, Badgers Grease, A. ℥iij. Oil of Bays ℥ij. Sage, Marjoram, Elder, dwarf Elder, Calamint, Origanum, Lavender, A. M. j. boil all to the Consumption of the Juices, and press out; add Balsam of Amber ℥j. Butter of Mace ℥ss. Petroleum, Oil of Spike, A. ʒij. mix them, S. A. Anoint on the Spina Dorsi, or Back-bone, for the Rickets. Use it in the Morning, and at Night a little before going into Bed, lay over it greasie Wool, as it is new shorn off the Sheeps Back, and binding it fast to with a double Linnen Cloth sewed on.

Salmon.] § 1. It is designed as an external help against the Rickets, and it is of good use for such Children, as cannot be easily made to take things inwardly.

§ 2. But besides anointing the Back-bone, it will be necessary to anoint the Stomach therewith Morning and Evening, as also all the Joynts affected.

VIII. Balsamum Spleneticum, A Balsam for the Spleen.

Bate.] ℞ Rue, Ground-Ivy, Camomile, Time, A. M. j. beat them together, and add Ox-Gall, Neats-feet-Oil, A. ℔j. Aqua Vitæ ℥j. boil for an hour, and strain out. It is of singular Vertue against Pains of the Spleen, and all other Pains and Aches proceeding from a cold Cause.

Salmon.] § 1. It is a good thing as it is, but if you add to the Composition, Camphire ℥ij. it will be much more effectual.

§ 2. While this is using outwardly, let the Patient take in the mean time Tinctura Martis every Night inwardly, in some proper Splenetick Vehicle.

IX. * Balsamum Sulphuris Bateanum, Dr. Bate's Balsam of Sulphur.

Bate.] ℞ Flowers of Sulphur ℥j. Florence Oil Olive ℥v. boil all with a gentle Fire, (continually stirring of it) till it comes to the consistence of a Balsam. It is most efficacious against all Ulcers, whether internal or external. Dose, ad gut. 20. or more.

Salmon.] § 1. It is good against Scabs, Itch, Pimples, Redness, Scurf, and all sorts of breakings out of the Skin, taking them away, and making it white, soft, and smooth.

§ 2. Applied in the Gout, it is of good use, and gives ease in that Disease, when many other Remedies fail.

X. * Balsamum Sulphuris Minerale, Mineral Balsam of Sulphur.

Bate.] ℞ Linseed Oil ℥x. Sulphur in fine Pouder ℥ij. boil gently, continually stirring it, till it comes to the Consistency of Honey. Let it be applied to the place pained and weakned with the Gout, spreading it on Leather or Cloth, and renewing it every third or fourth day.

Salmon.] § 1. This has all the Vertues of the former, and therefore may profitably be used to the same intention.

§ 2. In the Gout, &c. anoint with it very well, which done, made make another part of it into a Cataplasm, with Pouder of Elecampane roots, and Bay berries, and apply it, after anointing, over the grieved Parts.

XI. Balsamum Sulphuris Rulandi, Rulandus his Balsam of Sulphur.

Bate.] ℞ Flowers of Sulphur ℥j. Oil of Nuts or Rape-seed ℥vj. generous Wine ℥ij. digest eight days, stirring them sometimes; then boil to the Consumption of the Wine. It is a singular Easer of Pain; A maturative and digestive in Wounds of the Nervous Part: Dropt into the Ears, it takes away their Pain.

Salmon.] § 1. It is good also against all Vices of the Skin whatsoever, freeing it from all its Defædations, for which purposes it is not lightly to be valued, being only anointed thereon, Morning and Evening for some time.

§ 2. It gives ease in the Gout, and in all Pains proceeding from Cold and Moisture, and strengthens weak Nerves; and is a famous thing against Wounds, in what part of the Body soever.

XII. Balsamum Verum, A True Balsam.

Bate] ℞ It is made of Snails with Shells, for a long time and much beaten with an equal quantity of Sugar-candy, so as to become a Balsam. It is good to anoint with in the Small-Pox.

Salmon.] § 1. After the Small-Pox are filled, and come to their full bigness, you may safely anoint with this Medicine, it dries them, and prevents their pitting.

§ 2. You ought to lay it on almost as often as it dries, till they become very crusty; but being applied before they are come fully out, it may endanger their striking in again, which you must with all care avoid.

XIII. † Balsamum Magis compositum, Balsam the greater Composition.

Bate.] ℞ Balsam de Tolu, Capivi, Myrrh, Saffron, Nutmegs, A. ʒij. Mastich, Guajacum, Ammoniacum, Taccamahacca, Caranna, A. ʒj. Chio Turpentine ℥ss. yellow Wax ℥j. Oil of Hypericon ℥vj. Red Rose-water ℥ix. melt first the Wax with the Oil; then add the Tinctures, and exhale the S. V. after add the Rose-water; which after the cooling, let it be melted again in a gentle heat, and poured forth into another fit Vessel, to keep for use.

Salmon] § 1. It is one of the best Vulneraries (of an Artificial Balsam) in the World, and in the cure of Wounds does wonders.

§ 2. It also cleanseth running Sores, old Ulcers, and Fistula's, and brings them to a speedy cure.

§ 3. Applied also to the Gout, and to weak and pained Limbs, as also to a weak Back, it gives speedy ease and relief: Inwardly given ʒj. ad ʒij. at Night going to Bed, it is good against Stone, Sand, or Gravel in Reins or Bladder.

§ 4. In making of this Balsam, having melted the Wax with the Oil, you are then to add the Balsam de Tolu, Capivi, Ammoniacum, Taccamahacca, Turpentine, and Rose-water, simpering it till the Rose-water is evaporated: Lastly, you must add the Tinctures of the Myrrh, Saffron, Nutmegs, Mastich, Guajacum, and Caranna, made with S. V. which being mixed, the S. V. is to be abstracted till the Mass becomes of the consistence of a Balsam, &c.

XIV. † Balsamum minus Compositum, Balsam the lesser Composition.

Bate.] ℞ Chio Turpentine ℥ij. Oil of Hypericon ℥iv. yellow Wax ʒvj.

Universitäts- und Landesbibliothek Düsseldorf urn:nbn:de:hbz:061:2-30811-p0708-0 DFG

℥vj. Red Rose-water ℥vj. mix and make the Balsam in the same manner as the former.

Salmon.] § 1. It is a singular Vulnerary, and cures Wounds almost to a Miracle, yet in my Judgment, it is not so good a Balsam as the former.

§ 2. It softens Scrophulous Nodes, Tophs, and Gums, and in the Gout, or any Pains of the Nerves, is little inferior to the former.

CHAP. IV.

Of OINTMENTS.

I. Butyrum Amygdalinum, Almond Butter.

Bate.] ℞ Large sweet Almonds (i. e. Jordan Almonds) ℔j. macerate them in cold Water, and blanch them, bruise them well in a Marble Mortar, sprinkling them often (whilst beating) with a little fair Water. Then add fair Water, q. s. till it grows thick like Cream; strain it hard out by pressing, and put it upon a gentle Fire, often stirring it, till it begins to boil: then add (that it may coagulate or thicken) Juice of Limons ℥j. suspend it in a good thick Cloth, that there may be a separation of all the serose or thin parts, the Butter remaining behind in the Cloth, which mix with Sugar and Rose-water, till it is of a pleasant Taste. It is a delicate Anodyn; it lenifies or softens, and maturates, and is good against the Gripings of the Guts in Children, for which it is very much commended.

Salmon.] § 1. The Sugar with which the Condiment is made ought to be trebble refined; and the Rose-water ought to be that of Damask Roses.

§ 2. For external Uses, it is a good Maturative, and therefore ought to be mixt with Ripeners; and mixt with Turpentine, and the Yolk of an Egg, it makes one of the best Digestives in Nature.

§ 3. Inwardly against the Griping of the Guts, you may give it from ʒij. ad ʒvj. or more, mixing with it gut. j. ij. or iij. as you see convenient of the Oil of sweet Fennel-seeds.

II. Butyrum Ceræ, Butter of Wax.

Bate.] ℞ It is made of yellow Wax, dissolved in S. V. and filtrated, so that it may remain in the Paper like Butter. Being edulcorated, it may be drank ad ʒj. as the most excellent of Remedies against the Dysentery or Bloody-flux.

Salmon.] § 1. Outwardly it is good to stop Fluxes of Humours into Wounds and Ulcers, and to cause them speedily to heal.

§ 2. Inwardly it may not only be given against a Bloody-flux, but against all other Fluxes of the Bowels whatsoever, with good success: It stops the Flux and strengthens the Parts weakned. Dose, à ℈ij. ad ʒij. twice a day.

§ 3. Note, Some make it with Spiritus Urinæ, instead of Spiritus Vini, and affirm it to be the more excellent Medicine for the same Purposes: both are good: but I leave it to Experience to determine which Preparation is best.

III.

Universitäts- und Landesbibliothek Düsseldorf urn:nbn:de:hbz:061:2-30811-p0709-9

III. * Linimentum Melluminatum, The Honied Liniment.

Bate.] ℞ Pouder of Columbines, Sage, Mint, Nutmegs, A. ℥ss. burnt Alum ℥j. Honey ℥iv. mix them. It is good against Ulcers of the Gums, Inflamations, Loosenes of the Flesh about the Teeth, &c.

Salmon.] § 1. If there be Ulcers in the Mouth, dissolve a little of it in Red or Claret Wine, and gargle therewith: then lay it in substance with Lint upon the Ulcer it self, till it is cleansed.

§ 2. It is good for Ulcers in other parts, and induces them to a speedy healing.

IV. * Linimentum Simplex, The simple Linniment.

Bate.] ℞ Juice of Night shade, Oil of Roses, A. ℥xx. boil to the Consumption of the Juice, strain, and add Litharge, Ceruse, A. ℔j. mix them, S. A. It is good against Cancers in Womens Breasts, Heats, and Inflamations, Erysipela's, &c.

Salmon.] § 1. Anoint therewith Morning and Evening, and spread it upon soft, gentle Leather, and cover the whole Affect therewith.

§ 2. If Saccharum Saturni ℥vj. be added to it, it will be more effectual to answer all the Intentions for which it is designed.

V. Mel Saponis, Ointment of Honey and Soap.

Bate.] ℞ Common Soap, Honey, A. ℥iv. Salt of Tartar ℥ss. Fumitary-water ℥ij. mix them, S. A. It is a Cosmetick, and serves chiefly for whitening the Hands and Face by washing therewith. It prevails also against Burnings, Inflamations, Gout, &c.

Salmon.] § 1. It is one of the best of external Remedies against the Gout, or any kind of Pain or Tumor of the Joynts, being spread upon Leather and applied.

§ 2. If you please you may add to the Composition Camphire ℥ss. it will be more effectual to all the intentions.

VI. * Savanetta Cosmetica, A beautifying Soap or Ointment.

Bate.] ℞ Venice Soap ℥ij. dissolve it in Juice of Limons ℥ij. add Oil of bitter Almonds, Oil of Tartar per deliquium, A. ℥j. mix, and insolate so long, till it comes to the thickness of an Ointment, stirring it well every day. Lastly, add Oil of Rhodium, gut. vj. vel q. s. and make an Ointment.

Salmon.] § 1. It clears the Skin and makes it white, soft, and smooth, freeing it from Pimples, Breakings out, Scurf, Morphew, Sun burning, and other Defædations.

§ 2. It is reported, that if it be spread thick upon a Cloth, and laid upon the Face, or other parts of the Skin troubled with Lentils, Freckles, and the like, it will take them away.

§ 3. But it ought to lie on two days, and to be renewed two or three times, or till the scurf Skin seems to come off, which it will do in a little time with the discolouring or spots upon it, which I have sometimes seen.

VII.

VII. * Unguentum Albuminum, Ointment of the Whites of Eggs.

Bate.] ℞ It is made by mixing exactly Oil of Roses ℥ij. with Whites of Eggs ℥iv. S. A. It is one of the best of Remedies against Burnings, Inflamations, &c.

Salmon.] § 1. Anoint the Inflamation, Erysipela's, or part burnt or scalded with it, then lay over the Affect more of the same laid upon Lint, and gently bind it on, renewing it twice a day.

§ 2. It loosens Contractions, and gives ease in the Gout, being prudently applied.

VIII. * Unguentum Antipyreticum. An Ointment against Burnings.

Bate.] ℞ Fresh Goose-dung, Oil-Olive, A. ℥iv. Unguentum de Althæa, Oil of Roses, A. ℥j. Snow water ℥viij. boil with a gentle Fire, S. A. strain and add Camphire ʒj. mix them. It is very excellent against Burnings, &c.

Salmon.] § 1. Anoint the Burning or Scalding therewith, and then apply it upon a Linnen Cloth, dressing it twice a day till the Fire is out.

§ 2. If it be raw, and the Fire be once out by Application of this Ointment, you must heal it after the manner of other Ulcers.

IX. * Unguentum de Aurantiis, Ointment of Oranges.

Bate.] ℞ Fresh Oranges, but green, and not ripe; N° vj. beat them into a Pulp with their Peels; Bay-leaves, M. iv. Sage, Sorrel, Marigold, A. M. ij. Juice of Water-cresses lbij. fresh Butter lbij. boil all to the Consumption of the Juices, then press strongly out; to which add fresh Bay-Leaves, and Sage bruised as before; Cinnamon ℥j. Nutmegs ℥ss. boil again, till the Herbs are crisp, and then press out again. It is an excellent thing against Scabs, Itch, &c.

Salmon.] § 1. What good it will do in the Itch, I know not (the Unguentum de Enula cum Mercurio, or Neapolitanum, are a thousand times better:) but as to Scurf, Dandrif, Pustules, Pimples, Scabs, and other like Breakings out, it is a singular good thing.

§ 2. You may anoint therewith two or three times a day, till the Affect ceases.

X. * Unguentum de Betonica Aquatica, Ointment of Water Betony.

Bate.] ℞ Water Betony, Sorrel, A. M. vj. bruise them, and add fresh new made Butter lbij. boil till the Herbs are crisp, and press out strongly; repeat the boiling with fresh Herbs three times, strain or press out again, and add Sulphur Vivē in fine Pouder ℥iiss. Chymical Oil of Orange-peels ʒj. mix and make an Ointment, S. A. It cures Scabs, Itch, &c.

Salmon.] § 1. Anoint the Scabby or Itchy places with it twice a day, laying over them a Cloth dipt in the same, if it can with conveniency be done.

§ 2. It is good against Pustules, and other breakings out of the Face, Scurf and Dandrif in the Head, scald Heads, &c. being daily anointed therewith.

XI. * Unguentum Cephalalgicum, An Ointment for the Head.

Bate.] ℞ Ointment of Alabaster, Ointment of Roses, A. ℥ij. Opium ʒj. Saffron ʒss. Oil of Nutmegs ʒj. mix and make an Ointment. It is to be anointed on the Temples and Forehead.

Salmon.] § 1. What and how the Ointments of Alabaster and Roses are made, see our Pharm. Lond. Lib. 5. Cap. 4. Sect. 26. and 36. where you may have their Vertues and Uses.

§ 2. It eases Pain in any part, but chiefly in the Head, for which it is accounted a Specifick: being anointed on the Forehead, Temples, Nostrils, Pulses, and Soles of the Feet, it gives ease and rest.

XII. * Unguentum Crinificum, An Ointment causing Hair to grow.

Bate.] ℞ Labdanum ʒvj. Bears-grease ℥ij. Crude Honey ℥ss. Southernwood in Pouder ʒiij. Ashes of Reed-roots ʒiss. Oil of Nutmegs ʒj. Balsam of Peru ʒiij. mix them.

Salmon.] § 1. It is said to breed Hair, and restore bald places, &c. you must first rub the place a good while with an Onion, till the Skin looks very red, and then you must anoint it with this Ointment, laying over it a Linnen Cloth dipt in the same.

§ 2. And that it may be the more effectually done, it ought to be in like manner repeated three or four times a day for five or six Weeks together at least.

XIII. Unguentum Depilatorium, An Ointment taking away Hair.

Bate.] ℞ Quick-lime ℥iv. Arripigment ℥iss. Root of Florentine Orrice ℥ij. Nitre, Sulphur, A. ℥ss. strongest Soap-Lees ℔ij. mix, and boil to a just Consistency: add Oil of Cloves, gut. xx. mix and make an Ointment, or rather Pultice.

Salmon.] § 1. You must use it with great caution, because of its corrupting quality, and if it lies too long, it may do mischief, making Marks and Scars upon the place.

§ 2. Spread it thin upon a thick piece of Linnen Cloth, and so apply it, or anoint the place therewith, letting it lie for half an hour, more or less according to the Nature, Quality, and Thickness of the Skin, &c.

§ 3. The Hair being taken off, anoint the place with Oil or Ointment of Roses. Mynsicht is the Author thereof.

XIV. * Unguentum Digitalis, Ointment of Fox Cloves.

Bate.] ℞ May Butter ℔iij. fresh Fox Glove beaten, as much as you can well put into it; insolate for thirty days; then boil S. A. and press out strongly. Anoint the places affected with the Kings-Evil therewith; for this purpose it has no equal.

Salmon.] § 1. You are to anoint therewith Morning and Evening, continually for so long time till you find the Affect to cease: It dissolves Kernels in the Neck, or elsewhere, and takes away all sorts of Scrophulous Tumors whatsoever.

§ 2. But the patient ought to purge once a Week with our Pilulæ Panchymagogæ, and take a Decoction all along of Fox Glove inwardly.

XV. * Unguentum Faciale, An Ointment for the Face.

Bate.] ℞ Camphire, Sulphur Vive, A. ʒij. Pomatum ℥ij. strong Diasinapi strained out ℥j. Oil of Rhodium gut. iv. mix and make an Ointment. It cures a Red Face, Universals being premised.

Salmon.] § 1. What Preparation of Mustard-seed the Diasinapi is, is hard to be understood, however instead thereof you may take common Mustard, which we use for Sawce, straining it thro' a Cloth from the gross body of the Seed.

§ 2. If you anoint Morning and Evening therewith, for about fourteen days time, it will do wonders, removing not only Redness, but Pustules, Worms, and most other Deformities of the Skin.

XVI. * Unguentum Familiare, The Familiar, or Family Ointment.

Bate.] ℞ May Butter ℥vij. Wax, Rosin, A. ℥iv. Crude Honey, ʒx. Wheat-flower ʒvj. mix them, S. A. It warms, moistens, loosens, discusses, cleanses, smooths, ripens and digests: and is of familiar use for the speedy curing Fellons and Whiteloes in Fingers, and Kibes and Chilblains in the Feet and Toes. It also wonderfully helps Scorbutick Ulcers in the Feet.

Salmon.] § 1. It is not only good for Fellons, Whitloes, Chilblains and Kibes; but it is of singular use to abate Inflamations, and bring Pushes to Ripeness and Maturity.

§ 2. Spread it upon Leather, and apply it warm to the part affected, renewing it twice a day till you find amendment.

XVII. * Unguentum ad Fissuras, An Ointment against Chaps.

Bate.] ℞ Myrrh, Ginger, Litharge of Silver, A. ℥j. Honey ℥iv. Wax ℥ij. Oil of Roses ℥vj. mix them, S. A. For the Rich you may add, Oil of Rhodium, gut. xij. Leaves of Gold, № x. Otherwise thus. ℞ Fine Bole, Myrrh, Ceruse, A. ʒij. Ducks Grease q. s. mix and make an Ointment. It cures quickly.

Salmon.] § 1. Any of these may do the deed, but this (more common and easie) will do the work better. ℞ Beef Suet ℥iij. Wax ℥j. Strasburgh Turpentine ℥ss. Oil of Bitter Almonds, q. s. to bring it into the body of an Ointment being melted together.

§ 2. Anoint herewith, Morning and Evening at Bed-time, and in a few days the Chaps will be well.

XVIII. * Unguentum ad Foveas, An Ointment against the Marks of the Small Pox.

Bate.] ℞ Oil of sweet Almonds ℥ij. Sperma Ceti ʒiij. Oil of Rhodium, gut. iv. mix and make an Ointment, S. A. It is a most excellent thing to take away the Pittings or Marks of the Small-Pox. It alleviates the Pain, and takes away the Acrimony, &c.

Salmon.] § 1. I would not have you think that this Ointment will take away the Marks of the Small-Pox, when once you have them, but rather that it is to prevent them.

§ 2. When therefore the Small-Pox are fully come out, to prevent their Pitting, you must anoint Morning and Evening with this Medicament; keeping the Face warm, and thereby they will quickly dry up, and come off without any damage.

XIX. Unguentum Fuscum, The brown Ointment.

Bate.] ℞ Colcothar and Flegm of Vitriol, A. ℥j. Celandine Vinegar ℥ifs. Flowers of Verdigrise ʒv. clarified Honey ℥ij. mix and make an Ointment, S. A. It is one of the best Cleansers in Wounds and Ulcers.

Salmon.] § 1. This is made in imitation of the Unguentum fuscum Wurtzii, which you may see in our Doron Medicum Lib. 3. Cap. 4 sect. 13. and it has the same Vertues.

§ 2. And the Directions there for making that, will fully instruct you how you ought to make this, and unless it be well done, the Medicine will not be of that worth and validity, which you may expect.

§ 3. It is not only a great Cleanser, but possibly the best of Remedies against all sorts of running Sores, Ulcers or Fistula's, in what part of the Body soever.

XX. Unguentum Hemorrhoidale, An Ointment against the Piles.

Bate.] ℞ Fresh new made May Butter ℔iij. Flowers of Elder and Broom fresh gathered, as many as the Butter will contain being bruised: Digestate for a Month; then stir them well about, and bury them in the Earth, that they may putrifie for a Month; afterwards boil, S. § 2. Spread it on Cloth or Leather, and apply it, and renew it again, when it will stick no longer.

XXI. * Emplastrum Soleare, An Emplaster for the Feet.

Bate.] ℞ Sheeps Suet ℥iv. Ship-Pitch, Rosin, A. ℥viij. Frankincense ℥xij. Saffron in Pouder, ℥ss. Cloves, Mace, A. ʒvj. Cumin-seed ℥iss. Labdanum ʒvj. mix them, S. A.

Salmon.] § 1. It is applied to the Soles of the Feet against Coughs and Colds in Children, and such elder Persons, who cannot be easily prevailed upon to take Physick.

§ 2. Applied in violent Burning and malign Fevers, it is said to draw away the Heat, and give rest.

XXII. Emplastrum Spasmicum, An Emplaster against Crampsand and Convulsions.

Bate.] ℞ Ship Pitch ℥iv. Castor, Oil of Costus, A. ℥j. mix and make a Mass. The Title shews the Vertues.

Salmon.] § 1. Before you apply this Emplaster to the part or parts affected, they ought to be Morning and Night anointed with the Oil of Amber, well chafed in, and that for three or four days together; which done, this Emplaster may be applied.

§ 2. Spread it on Cloth or Leather, and renew it when it begins to leave sticking.

§ 3. It is an excellent thing against all Pains and Aches, Gouts, and Rheumatick Distempers proceeding from a cold cause.

XXIII. * Emplastrum ad Strumas, An Emplastera gainst the King's-Evil.

Bate.] ℞ Emplastrum è Cicuta cum Ammoniaco ℥iv. Gum Edemi ℥ss. Mercury precipitate ʒx. mix them. It heals Scrophula's and Struma's, vulgarly the King's-Evil.

Salmon.] § 1. It is applied to hard and painful Swellings in Womens Breasts, (whether occasioned thro' Blows, or curdled Milk, or a Cold, which the Vulgar call an Ague in the Breast) with admirable Success: It eases the Pain, softens, and discusses or dissolves the Tumor.

§ 2. Spread it on Cloth or Leather, and apply it, renewing it every third or fourth day, and continue the Application till the Tumor or Swelling is wholly vanished.

XXIV. * Emplastrum Synanchicum, An Emplaster against the Quinsey.

Bate.] ℞ White Dogs Turd in Pouder ℥vj. Crude Honey ℥viij. Wheat-flower ℥iiss. Wax ℥iv. Oil of Roses ℥vj. vel q. s. mix and make an Emplaster, S. A. It is applied to the Jugular, and parts of the Neck below the Ears, where the Pain is.

Salmon.] § 1. It ought to be made large, and to be applied over the whole Throat, from Ear to Ear, and renewed once a day.

§ 2. Mean Season, while this is applying outwardly the Sick ought to take Spirit of Sal-Armoniack inwardly, gut. 20. ad 30. in four or five Ounces of Milk-water, or black Cherry-water.

XXV. Emplastrum Tibiale, An Emplaster for the Shin-bones.

Bate.] ℞ Mercury ℥ij. dissolve it in A. F. ℥ij. add to it Hogs Grease ℥iv. boil them in an Earthen Vessel, continually stirring it with an Iron Rod or Spatula, till it comes to the consistency of a soft Emplaster, by the exhaling of the Humidity; then add yellow Wax ℥j. Pouder of Mastich and Olibanum, A. ʒiij. mix and make a Mass, S. A. It is profitable in the French-Pox, for Nodes, Gums, Tophs, &c.

Salmon.] § 1. It is of use for such as have got Nocturnal Pains, and are troubled with Nodes, Gums, &c. on their Shin-bones, to be applied and renewed every fourth day.

§ 2. But while this is a doing, it will be good for the Patient to take inwardly some few Doses of the Prince's Pouder, the Preparation of which we have taught in the aforegoing part of this Book.

XXVI. * Emplastrum Vermifugum, An Emplaster to kill Worms.

Bate.] ℞ Aloes in Pouder ℥j. Colocynthis, Myrrh, A. ʒiij. Savin, Rue, Wormwood, Tansie, Wallnut-Tree Leaves, Bryony-root, A. ʒij. Wax, Rosin, A. ℥iv. Oil of Rue ℥ij. mix and make a Mass, S. A. Being applied to the Navel, it kills Worms, and brings them forth.

Salmon.] § 1. Spread it upon a round piece of Cloth or Leather ther, about seven or eight Inches in Diameter, and apply it, laying the Center of it over the Navel.

Universitäts- und Landesbibliothek Düsseldorf urn:nbn:de:hbz:061:2-30811-p0725-4 DFG

§ 2. But before you apply it, bath the Belly well with this Mixture. ℞ Strong Decoction of Colocynthis ℥iv. with which mix Ox-Gall ℥iss. and therein dissolve Aloes in Powder ℥ss. adding at last Spirit of Wine ℥j.

XXVII. † Emplastrum de Minio Compositum, An Emplaster of Red-Lead Compound.

Bate.] ℞ Red Lead half a Pound, Oil-Olive ℔j. mix and boil to blackness, continually stirring it, adding Colophony ℔ss. It is also made with Linseed-Oil.

Salmon.] § 1. This is the vulgar Gout Plaster, and an Emplaster for all sorts of Aches and Pains in what part of the Body soever, and a good one it is, and tho' simple, not to be despised.

§ 2. In making of it, beware you boil it not too much, lest it be hard and brittle, and so not be apt to stick, which it ought to do, and let it be rather of the Body of a Cerate than of an Emplaster.

§ 3. Spread it on Cloth, and apply it to the parts afflicted, letting it lie on as long as it will stick, and then renew it, which repeat as long as there is occasion or need.

XXVIII. † Emplastrum de Minio Compositum aliud; Another Emplaster of Red Lead Compound.

℞ Minium or Red Lead ℥iij. Oil-Olive ℥vj. mix, boil, and add Vermilion ℥j. mix them well.

Salmon.] § 1. The Vertues of this are the same with the former, and to be made, used and applied in the same manner; but the Vermillion may be added towards the end of the boiling.

§ 2. It is more powerful than the former to all Intentions, and more dissolutive, by reason of the Vermilion.

One Emplaster added by the Translator.

XXIX. Emplastrum Febrifugum magnum, The great Febrifuge Emplaster.

Salmon.] § 1. ℞ Frankincense ℥xiv. Oil-Olive ℥j. vel q. s. Cinnabar ℥ij. melt and make an Emplaster that may stick.

§ 2. Spread it upon an Oval piece of Leather about eight Inches long and five Inches broad, and apply it to the Pit of the Stomach, letting it lie on as long as it will stick; then renew it once more if you see occasion.

§ 3. It cures all sorts of Agues, whether Quotidian, Tertian, or Quartan without any other help, and that mostly at one Application, in an hundred Examples together, it has not failed of one.

CHAP. VII.

Of CATAPLASMS.

I. * Cataplasma Apoplecticum, A Pultice against the Apoplexy.

Bate.] ℞ Bryony Roots fresh ℥iij. Mustard-seed, Black Soap, A. ℥j. Cantharides ʒvj. beat them well together: add the best Vinegar q. s. and make a cataplasm to be laid upon the Head shaved.

Salmon.] § 1. It is a strong attractive, and draws a Blister singularly well; it may lye on about twelve or fourteen hours more or less; and then being taken off, a Melilot Emplaster or Colewort leaf may be applyed.

§ 2. In these kind of applications, the Patient is for the most part troubled with a great heat, pain, and sharpness in making of Urine, and sometimes with Pissing Blood: this is usual.

§ 3. The Remedy is to drink freely and largely Barley Milk, made by mixing Milk with Barley water, and sweetning it a little with trebble refined Sugar.

II. Cataplasma Cephalicum, A Pultice for the Head.

Bate.] ℞ Pouders of Cloves, Nutmegs, A. ʒij. Guinny Pepper ℥s. Diasinapi, or Mustard ʒvj. sower Leaven ℥iij. Spirit of Lavender Compound ℥iss. vel q. s. mix and make a Pultice for the Head being shaved.

Salmon.] § 1. It is a strong attractive, but not to blistring; it warms, comforts, and strengthens a cold Head and Brain, and is good to be applied in Apoplexies, Vertigoes, Lethargies, Megrims, Headachs, &c. from a cold cause.

§ 2. Being spread upon Leather, let it be applyed over the whole Head, being first shaved: 'tis a good thing for a Catarrh from a cold and moist cause.

III. * Cataplasma Synanchicum, A Pultice for a Quinsey.

Bate.] ℞ White Dogs Turd ℥j. Pulp of the Conserve of Red Roses ℥ij. Syrup of Meconium, q. s. mix and make a Pultice. It is to be applied under the Chin from Ear to Ear, after Blood-letting.

Salmon.] § 1. Lay it very thick upon Cloth or Leather, and lay it over the whole Throat, under the Chin, letting it lie for six or seven hours, and then renew it.

§ 2. Before application thereof, let the Throat be anointed with Oil of Jews-Ears; which is made by boiling the Jews-Ears (first steeped in Water for twelve hours) in Oil-Olive till they are crisp, and pressing out the Oil, and repeating the boiling in like manner with fresh Jews-Ears, to the third time.

IV. Cataplasma ad Paronychiam, A Pultice against Whitloes and Felons.

Bate.] ℞ Yolk of one new laid Egg, add to it common Rosin in fine Pouder, q. s. Balsam of Peru, gut. vj. vel viij. mix them well together, till they become a Pultice. Apply it to the place affected: It is a famous Medicine.

Salmon.] § 1. I know this by my own Experience, to be an excellent thing against Whitlo's or Felons, giving ease in the extremity of Pain to admiration; and in a very short time bringing them to suppuration, if Nature tends that way.

§ 2. I have done the same thing, by mixing Rosin in fine Pouder, with Hogs Lard, as also with Beef or Sheeps Suet; tho' this made with the Yolk of an Egg, I think to be the best of them all.

V. Cataplasma Pestilentiale, A Pultice against the Plague.

Bate.] ℞ Pidgeons Dung in Pouder ℥iv. Saffron ℥ss. Mithridate, London Treacle, Mustard-seed, A. ℥j. Turpentine q. s. mix and make a Pultice. It is intended for the breaking of Bubo's. After the Bubo is broken, apply this: ℞ Emplastrum de mucilaginibus, Diachylum cum Gummis, & Sticticum, A. ℥iss. Galbanum ℥ss. mix them.

Salmon.] § 1. If I might give my Vote, I should be for adding Black Soap ℥iij. Pulp of Onions, raw or roasted ℥iiss. Quick-lime ℥j. mixing them.

§ 2. Being applied it ripens and breaks Bubo's in a very short time to admiration, whether Pestilential or not; and it is a good thing to ripen and break other Tumors also.

VI. * Cataplasma Podagricum, A Pultice against the Gout.

Bate.] ℞ Black Soap ℥iv. Yolks of Eggs No ij. Saffron ʒj. Oil of Spike ʒj. mix and make a Pultice, S. A.

Salmon.] § 1. This is a good Medicine as it is, against the Gout, and all sorts of Arthritick Pains; but it would be almost ten times more effectual, if to the Composition you add, Camphir ℥iss. ground with the Oil of Spike in a Mortar and then mixt with Chio Turpentine, ℥iv. adding this mixture to the rest of the things.

§ 2. Spread it thick upon Cloth or Leather, and apply it warm, renewing it every Twenty four, or Forty eight hours, as you see reason or need.

VII. * Cataplasma Soleare, A Pultice for the Feet.

Bate.] ℞ Fresh Rue ℥ij. fresh gathered Bryony-roots ℥iv. sower Leaven, Bay-salt, Black Soap, A. ℥iss. Mustard ℥iij. beat them well together, and add Vinegar, q. s. It is to be applied to the Soles of the Feet in Fevers.

Salmon.] § 1. There ought to be added Turpentine ℥j. ground with a little of the Yolk of an Egg: Camphir, Sal prunellæ, A. ℥j.

§ 2. Being applied to the Feet in Fevers, it abates the violent heat, draws down Vapours from the Head, which disturb the Brain, and causes rest.

VIII. * Epicarpia Febrifuga, The Febrifuge Wrist-Pultice.

Bate.] ℞ Pouder of white Hellebor ℥ss. Nitre ʒij. Pulp of Figs, q. s. so as to make a Mass like a Pultice. Apply it to the Wrists two hours before the Fit of a Tertian.

Salmon.] § 1. Spread it upon Leather, and apply it to both Wrists,

Wrists, letting it lie on all the time of the cold and hot Fit, (if the Ague comes) and when the Fit is over, renew it again.

§ 2. It is reported, that at two applications, or three at the most, it has cured Tertians when many other things have failed.

CHAP. VIII.

Of CLYSTERS.

I. * Enema Alexiterium, A Clyster resisting Poyson.

Bate.] S Cordium M. j. Citron-seeds ʒiij. Flowers of Elder, of Camomil, red Roses; of Centory the less, A. P. j. Water q. s. boil and strain. To ℥x. add Juice of Kermes ʒj. double refined Sugar ℥ss. mix and dissolve. It is for the drawing forth Malignity and Poyson out of the Bowels, &c.

Salmon.] § 1. It is of good use after Sweating in the Plague; as also after the Measles and Small-pox, when they are fully come out, and begin to die again.

§ 2. It is used also after the taking of Poyson, when Emeticks will do no good, as also after strong and violent Catharticks, which by their force melt the Juices and excoriate, &c.

II. * Enema Colicum, A Clyster against the Cholick.

Bate.] ℞ Decoctum commune (prepared with Juniper-berries and Fenugreek-seed A. ʒiij.) ℥x. Infusion of Crocus Metallorum, Oil of Dill A. ℥ij. Castile Soap, Electuarium Lenitivum, A. ℥j. Chymical Oil of Juniper berries ʒss. mix them, S. A. It is admirable against the Cholick, Illiack Passion, Stone, &c.

Salmon.] § 1. Of an external, used Clyster-wise, there is scarcely a better Medicine in the World, and it may be twice repeated in Twenty four hours, if the Fit goes not off, yea, twice in twelve hours.

§ 2. Outwardly anoint the Stomach, and whole Region of the Abdomen with this: ℞ Oyl of Ben ʒj. Chymical Oils of Rue and Savin, A. ʒss. mix them.

III. Enema Balsamicum, A Balsamick Clyster.

Bate.] ℞ A strong Decoction of Horse tail ℥vj. Oil of Hypericon ʒvj. Lucatella's Balsam ℥j. Balsam de Peru ʒiij mix them. It is a most excellent thing against the Bloody-flux, and to heal the Excoriations of the Bowels, &c.

Salmon.] § 1. This is often given after violent Catharticks, which excoriate the Guts, and many times bring Blood away.

§ 2. I think the Decoction of Horse tail will be best to be made with Chicken broth, adding to each Clyster S. V. ℥ij. It may be exhibited often, till the Patient becomes well.

Universitäts- und Landesbibliothek Düsseldorf urn:nbn:de:hbz:061:2-30811-p0729-0 DFG

IV. * Enema Dysentericum, A Clyster against the Bloody-flux.

Bate.] ℞ A Sheeps-head killed with the Wool, and broken to pieces, (the Tongue and Brain being taken out) boil it in Water q. s. ad ℔vj. and strain out for Clysters. You may add Flowers of Camomil, Mallows, and Marsh-Mallows, &c. Or it may be made of Butter not salted ℥x. Sanguis Draconis ʒij. red Wine ℥ij. Or otherwise, of New Milk ℥xij. Opium ℈j. Saffron ʒss. being boiled, add white Sugar ℥iss. and the Yolk of two Eggs. They have the same Vertues with the former.

Salmon.] § 1. The Medicament according to the Prescript is good, but if to each Clyster you add S. V. ℥ij. ad iv. or vj. according as the violence of the Distemper and the occasion may require, it will be ten times better.

§ 2. And where the Distemper has been of long continuance, and the Patient exceeding weak, so that Life is despaired of, the one half of the Clyster ought to be Spirit of Wine or Brandy.

V. Enema Hystericon, A Clyster against Fits of the Mother.

Bate.] ℞ Decoctum commune ℥x. Camphir ʒj. Oil of Rue ℥ss. Honey of Herb Mercury ℥iij. mix and make a Clyster.

Salmon.] § 1. You ought to put into it Musk gr. x. ground with a few drops of Juice of Limons, whereby its Vertue against Hysterick Fits will be doubled.

§ 2. Anoint the Vulva and Womb with this mixture. ℞ Musk gr. vj. grind it with Adeps Rosarum ℈ss. which mix with Balsam of Peru ℈j. Oil of Ben ʒiij.

VI. Enema Oleosum, An Oily Clyster.

Bate.] ℞ Linseed Oil ℥iij. Oils of Camomil and Dill, A. ℥ij. Oils of Scorpions and of Rue, A. ℥j. Oil of Turpentine ℈j. mix them. It is an egregious Medicament against the Cholick, Stone, &c.

Salmon.] § 1. It is a singular thing indeed for the named Intentions, and will not fail of answering expectation, so far as a Clyster can do; but if instead of the Linseed Oil ℥iij. you substitute Rape-seed Oil ℥iij. it would be much more Specifick.

§ 2. Also adding to it Spirit of Wine ℥ij. or iij. you will add to the Vertue of the Medicament, and make it more discussive.

VII. Enema Terebinthinatum, A Turpentine Clyster.

Bate.] ℞ Decoctum Commune ℥xij. Venice Turpentine ℥ss. Yolk of one Egg, Syrup of Violets ℥iss. Diaphenicon ℥j. mix and make a Clyster. It is admirably good against the pain of the Stone.

Salmon.] § 1. It is an excellent thing against the Cholick and Wind in the Bowels, but the chief design or intention of it is against the Stone and Gravel, whether in the Reins or Bladder, for the easing of the pains thereof, it is truly a Specifick.

§ 2. You may repeat it (if you see need) twice a day, till you see the desired effects. Note the Turpentine is first to be perfectly mixed with the Yolk of the Egg; and then this mixture is to be added to the other things, otherwise the Turpentine will not mix at all.

VIII.

VIII. Enema Vinosam, A Clyster of Wine.

Bate.] ℞ Spanish Wine ℥xij. Oil of Aniseeds ʒſs. red Sugar ℥iij. mix and make a Clyster. It is good against the Tormina, or Griping of the Guts.

Salmon.] § 1. To make it more absolute, you ought to add to it Camphire ʒſs. which you may dissolve in the Oil of Aniseeds, and so mix it with the rest of the Ingredients.

§ 2. This as well nourishes a weak and consumptive Patient, as gives ease to one that is in pain: if the Sick is in a Consumption, add the Yolk of one or two Eggs to it.

IX. Enema Urinosam, A Clyster of Urine.

Bate.] ℞ Seeds of Rue, of Daucus, of Cumin, A. ʒij. Sena ℥j. Urine ℔ij*ſs. boil to one half: strain, and add Species Hiera simplex* ʒij. Red Sugar ℥iij. mix and make a Clyster. It is a good Hydragogue, and prevails against the Dropsie.

Salmon.] § 1. It evacuates more Water and Wind than can be well imagined, and does more good than many Catharticks which are given by the Mouth.

§ 2. You ought to repeat it once every day, till the Hydropick Humor is wholly evacuated, at first, for a while twice a day.

APPENDIX I.

X. Enema Spirituosum, A Spirituous Clyster.

Salmon.] § 1. ℞ Spirit of Wine ℥viij. Oils of Turpentine and Aniseeds, Ana. gut. 10. Broth of a Sheeps-head ℥viij. mix and exhibit warm.

§ 2. It is a Specifick against the Bloody-flux; and therewith I have cured several which have been at the point of Death.

§ 3. Among the number of the rest, I cured one poor Man, who had lain twelve Weeks languishing under that Distemper.

§ 4. I being sent for found the Man, as I thought, dead, at least a dying and senseless, his Eyes closed, his Teeth set, and scarcely any signs of Life in him.

§ 5. The miserable condition of the Man, and importunity of the By-standers, moved me to try what I could do for him: I presently caused this Clyster to be exhibited, he seem'd to sleep and lie quietly after it, resting twelve hours with it in his Body, and awaked easie and pleased.

§ 6. It was repeated again, and afterwards once a day for a Week, (diminishing somewhat of the quantity of the S. V.) and in a short time he perfectly recovered, to the wonder of all about him.

APPENDIX II.
containing Injections and Suppositories.

XI. * Injectio Alba, An Injection of the White Troches.

Bate.] ℞ Trochisci albi Rhasis ʒiij. Camphire ℈j. Dissolve them in Frog-spawn Water ℥xij. S. A. It allays Inflamations, and eases Pain, and is effectual against Ulcers of the Yard, Gonorrhæa's, &c.

Salmon.] § 1. You ought to have a short Syringe, much like an Ear-Syringe, but much less, and the Body of it all of a piece with the Spout.

§ 3. Before using of it, let the Patient make Water if he has occasion, and then exhibit the Injection, injecting three Syringes full at a dressing, and after, holding the end of the Syringe in, for about a Minute, before you suffer the Water to come forth.

§ 3. This ought to be done at first five or six times a day, afterwards as the Ulcer begins to heal, three or four times a day, and at last, but twice a day, till it is well: and it ought to be continued for some time after it is seemingly perfectly well, lest it should return again.

§ 4. If it be Winter-time, and cold Weather, the Injection ought to be made Blood-warm.

XII. Injectio Auricularis, The Ear Injection.

Bate.] ℞ Rosemary flowers M. ij. boil them in Bay's Urine ℔ iss. to ℔ j. strain out, and add Honey of Roses ℥ iv. mix them. It is good against Deafness and pain in the Ears.

Salmon.] § 1. It is good against Thickness of Hearing, Pain and Noise in the Ears: It alleviates the Pain in Apostems, and brings them to maturation.

§ 2. After the Ear has been well syringed with this Injection, you ought to drop into it the following Oil. ℞ Oil of Ben ℥ ss. Oil of Amber ʒ ij. mix them.

§ 3. And the Ear is to be stopped with Cotton dipt in a strong Tincture of Musk and Ambergrise, made with S. V.

XIII. * Injectio Benedicta, An Injection made of the Infusion of Crocus Metallorum.

Bate.] ℞ Aqua Benedicta ℥ viij. Mercurius Dulcis in subtil Pouder ʒ iij. mix them well, S. A. It has all the Vertues of the Injection made of the White Troches, at Sect. 11. above.

Salmon.] § 1. It is an excellent thing against running Sores, old Ulcers, inveterate Fistula's, and other like Disaffections, being used two or three times a day.

§ 2. And it prevails against a Gonorrhæa, being injected four, five, or six times a day, as directed at Sect. 11. aforegoing.

§ 3. Exhibited Clyster wise in a Cholick, (℥ ij. iij. or iv. to twelve Ounces of Chicken or Mutton-broth) it gives relief to a Miracle, and performs that which no other Clyster in the World can do besides.

XIV. * Suppositoria Aluminosa, Suppositories made with Alum.

Bate.] ℞ Alum in fine Pouder q. v. Whites of Eggs beaten together q. s. or so much as may make the Pouder of the Alum into a Paste, of which form Suppositories, of several magnitudes and length, which dry for use. One of these being anointed with Oil, and put up pro re nata, provokes to Stool in several cases. They are of singular use in the Cholick.

Salmon.] § 1. The ordinary way which Country People have, is to take a good long piece of Alum, of about a Fingers length, and with a Knife to cut or scrape it into the shape of a Suppository, and so put it up; and this will do full as well.

§ 2. But of the shavings or scrapings, (that they may not be lost) you may, if you so please, form Suppositories according to this Prescript.

XV. * Suppositorium Hæmorrhoidale, A Suppository for the Piles.

Bate.] It is made of Chalk and Unguentum Populneum, so as to make a stiff or hard Mass, S. A. It cools and stops the bleeding of the Hæmorrhoids.

Salmon.] § 1. It is of good use where there is a vehement heat, and withal, an untoward Costiveness of Body, in which case it ought to be so long used, till all the hardened Excrements are come away.

§ 2. It is of a brittle substance, and therefore must be used with much tenderness, lest it break in pieces.

CHAP. IX.

Of Medicaments ANOMALOUS.

I. * Acetarium Scorbuticum, An Antiscorbutick Sauce.

Bate.] ℞ Sea Scurvy-grass (chosen Leaves ℥iij. Treble refined Sugar ℥vj. Salt of Scurvy-grass ℥j. being well bruised together, add Juice of Oranges ℥vj. and mix them. In this you may dip all your Antiscorbutick Foot.

Salmon.] § 1. The Composition is good enough as to the Nature of it, but it does not fully answer its Name; for the Ounce of Salt of Scurvy-grass, wholly takes away the pleasure of it as to a Sauce.

§ 2. In my Opinion, it would be much better to make a Potion of it, by straining all the Syrup out from the Herb, by pressing, and so taking ℥j. of it at a time Morning and Evening, in a Glass of Antiscorbutick, or Scurvy-grass Ale.

§ 3. But leaving out the Salt of Scurvy-grass, it may go then well enough for a Sauce, and that a highly Antiscorbutick one too; if the Salt must be taken, let it be taken in some other more proper Mixture, I am sure it will never make a good Salt.

II. Amuleta Pestilentiale, A Pestilential Amulet, or Preservative.

Bate.] ℞ Auripigment ℥iss. Angelica roots ʒvj. Mucilage of Gum Tragacanth, q. s. mix and make a Paste, of which make Amulets, N° xij. of a Globe-like form, which roul up in Silk, and hang against the Region of the Heart.

Salmon.] § 1. Paracelsus, Crollius, Hartman, and others, are of Opinion, that there is a mighty Power, Force, and Vertue, in such like Amulets, made to defend against the Infection of the Plague, I will not say much to the Matter, but leave every own to use their own freedom.

§ 2. However this I will say, that if my own Life lay at stake, I should rather trust to some known and approved inward Specifick Antidote, than to all the sam'd Amulets in the World.

§ 3. But if the Philosophick Reason of the thing be consider'd and enquired into, there may be much more in it, than many are aware of.

III. * Caryophilli Odorati, Perfumed Cloves.

Bate.] ℞ Styrax Calamita, Labdanum, A. ℥ij. Benjamine ℥j. Cloves ℥ss. Ἀνθρακίων, Charcole ℥iij. make a subtil Ponder; add Gum-water, q. s. so as to make a Mass, of which make little Rouls in the form of Cloves. They are used for the fuming of the Bed-Chambers of sick People.

Salmon.] § 1. Having Fire of live Charcole, you may put some few of them upon it, which being set in the middle of the Room, will perfume it, in Infectious and Pestilential Times, and among ill smelling Diseases.

§ 2. The Fumes also received up the Throat by the Mouth thro' a Funnel (whose wider part is wide enough to spread over the whole Chafing-dish) are good to stop vehement Coughs, and violent Catarrhs.

IV. * Cashew, seu Catechu, Rouls of Catechu.

Bate.] ℞ Catechu in fine Pouder ℥iv. white Sugar-candy ℥ss. Roch Alum, gr. j. Ambergrise gr. iv. Mucilage of Gum Tragacanth made with Rose water, q. s. mix and make a Paste, which make into little Rouls, almost in the form of Mouse-turds. They are good to dry up Catarrhs, and conduce admirably to the strengthening of the Head, being held often in the Mouth.

Salmon.] § 1. Being daily chewed in the Mouth, or otherwise held in the Mouth till they dissolve, they comfort all the Spirits, Natural, Vital, and Animal, and cause a sweet Breath.

§ 2. Being eaten every Night going to Bed, ʒss. ad ʒj. they stop Coughs and Catarrhs, heal Ulcers in the Lungs, and stop all sorts of Fluxes of the Bowels, whether of Blood or Humors, as also Fluxes of the Womb, whether White or Red; for which last it is a Specifick.

V. * Cremor Hordei, Barley Cream.

Bate.] ℞ Pearled Barley cleansed ℥iv. boil (casting away the first water) in Fountain-water q. s. till it is soft; beat well the Barley with sweet Almonds blanched, No 20. then add Barley-water, ℔iijss. mix well, and express strongly, S. A. add thereto treble refined Sugar ℥ij. Damask Rose-water ℥ijss. stir them well, and make a Cream. It is Diuretick and Nutritive, quenches Thirst in Fevers.

Salmon.] § 1. It is of singular use to be given upon any Heat, Sharpness, or Scalding of the Water, or Pissing of Blood, occasioned from the Malignity of Epispastick Emplasters, or Blistering occasioned from Cantharides, being often taken, ℥ij. iij. or iv. at a time.

§ 2. It is also a very good thing in Hectick Fevers, abating the Heat, and restoring the Consumptive Body.

§ 3. And in other Fevers, it is given to abate their Heat, and quench quench Thirst, being mixt with Milk-water, or Black Cherry-water, in a trebble Proportion.

VI. * Dentifricium Dominarum, A Dentrifice for Ladies.

Bate.] ℞ Chrystal prepared ʒiss. Pouder of Bricks, of Pumice-stone, A. ℥ss. Os Sepiæ, Coral red and white, A. ʒij. Pearl, Cloves, A. ʒj. Musk gr. iv. mix and make a fine Pouder: To which add Honey of Roses, q. s. so as to make a soft Paste. Otherwise thus. ℞ Pouder of Brick ℥j. Spirit of Sulphur, q. s. so as to make a Paste; to which being dried, add, Pouder of Tartar ʒvj. burnt or toasted Bread ℥ss. mix them. Rub the Teeth therewith, and after wash the Mouth with Wine.

Salmon.] § 1. In the latter Composition, Pouder of Cremor Tartari, will be best to be chosen, because it is finer, cleaner, and more pure than Argol, or unrefined Tartar.

§ 2. If the Teeth be very foul, the Medicament must be used often in a day, at least five or six times, and afterwards, every time after eating.

VII. * Dentifricium Infantium, A Dentrifice for Children.

Bate.] ℞ New made fresh Butter ℥j. clarified Honey ʒvj. red Coral prepared ℥ss. make a Mixture, S. A. With this let the Gums of Children be rubbed twice or thrice a day, for the more easie Breeding of their Teeth.

Salmon.] § 1. But if you would have it do any good, you must rub the edges of their Gums with it four, five, or six times a day.

§ 2. And when all is done, to rub them every hour in the day with a good Coral, is a thousand times better.

§ 3. For the hardness of the Coral falling hard (and that almost continually) upon the edge of the Teeth to be cut out of the Gum, does in some measure deaden (as it were) or benumb the Gum it self, and so makes it the more insensible of the Pain, and also facilitates the cutting of the same.

§ 4. And this is the Reason, that such Children whom their Nurses are almost always rubbing their Gums hard with a smooth Coral, ever breed their Teeth without any Pain.

VIII. * Dentifricium Scorbuticum, A Dentrifice against the Scurvy in the Teeth.

Bate.] ℞ Salt of Scurvy-grass, Mace, A. ʒj. Sage ℈iv. burnt Alum ʒij. Salt decripitated ℈ij. mix and make a subtil Pouder, to which add Honey of Roses, q. s. make a Mixture. You are to rub your Teeth therewith, before the use of Dentilavium Scorbuticum, in Cap. 1. Sect. 3. of this Book.

Salmon.] § 1. If your Teeth have a Crust upon them, and want scaling, the Chirurgeon ought to do it with his Instrument, before you use this Medicament.

§ 2. This done (if need require) then three times a day, viz. Morning, and after Dinner and Supper, rub your Teeth with this Dentrifice, washing them afterwards, as directed.

IX. * Fron-

IX. * Frontali Cephalalgicum, A Cephalick Application to the Forehead.

Bate.] ℞ It is made of Rose-cake, q. s. fryed in Vinegar or S.V. and sprinkled with Ponder of Nutmegs ℥j. Zedoary ℥ss. Camphire ℈ij. Apply it to the Forehead and Temples.

Salmon.] § 1. It is a singular good thing to the ease the Pain of the Head, and cause Rest.

§ 2. In vehement Pains, Vertigo's, Megrims, &c. you must often renew it, by moistning it with Vinegar, as fast as you find it dries.

X. * Lapis Contrayerva, The Stone against Poison.

Bate.] ℞ Magisteries of Hartshorn, of white and red Coral, of Pearl, of white Amber, of Crabs-Eyes, A. ʒj. Roots of Contrayerva, ℥ss. the black points of Crabs Claws ℥j. all rightly prepared; mix them together, and with Jelly of Vipers, q. s. make it up into little Balls, which cover with Leaf-Gold, and carefully dry, S. A. some add to the Composition Ambergrise ʒiss. It is a famous Cordial Antidote against Poison, and Sudorifick, prevails wonderfully against the Plague, Small-Pox, Measles, and all sorts of Malign Fevers. Dose, ℈ss. ad ʒss.

Salmon.] § 1. Whether you ought to take the Magisteries of the Corals, Pearl, Amber, and Crabs Eyes, or their levigated Pouders only, is not easie to be discerned by the Prescript, but either of them will do.

§ 2. There is another Composition of this Stone in other Proportions, which you may see in our Doron Medicum, Lib. 2. Cap. 24. Sect. 3. which we transferr'd from Monsieur Charras.

§ 3. But in my Judgment, this of our Author is much the more excellent, and may be used against all Malign and Pestilential Diseases, from gr. 10. ad ʒj. in any proper Vehicle. See our Seplasium, Lib. 7. Cap. 25. Sect. 3.

XI. Lapis de Goa, The Goa-Stone.

Bate.] ℞ Of the Hyacinth, Topaz, Saphire, Ruby, Pearls, A. ℥j. Emirals ℥ss. Oriental Bezoar, white and red Coral, A. ℥ij. Musk, Ambergrise, A. ℥ss. Leaves of Gold, № 40. Make all into fine Pouder, which bring into a Paste with Rose-water, and form into oblong Balls, not much unlike to little Eggs, drying them well in the Shadow: then with a Limpets Shell, or some other thing of like nature, let them be curiously polished, that they may have a Gloss upon them, S. A. It has the same Vertues with the former. Besides which, it is a Specifick against Cramps and Contractions of the Nerves. Dose, à ℈j. ad ʒss. or more.

Salmon.] § 1. 'Tis true, you may make it up with simple Rose-water, but then it will be apt to break with the least fall; your better way will be to add a little Mucilage of Gum Tragacanth, or Jelly of Hartshorn, or some such like, which being dryed, will make the Stone not only firmer, but the better also to be polished.

§ 2. Some are of Opinion, that you ought to take the Magisteries of those Fragments of Precious Stones, &c. but I am confident, that if they be well levigated upon a Porphyry, with a little Rose-water, water, it will be full as well; what is required, is, that their Pouders be impalpable, and soft like Flower.

Universitäts- und Landesbibliothek Düsseldorf urn:nbn:de:hbz:061:2-30811-p0736-5 DFG

§ 3. It is an Antidote against Plague and Poison, and cures the Bitings of Serpents, Mad Dogs, or any other venomous Creature.

§ 4. It revives the Spirits, chears the Heart, fortifies Nature, resists Melancholy, restores in Consumptions, prevails against all Diseases of the Head and Brain, proceeding from Cold and Moisture.

§ 5. It causes a lively Presence, nimble Wit, a pleasant Countenance, and a sweet Breath. Dose, ℈j. ad ʒj. See its Vertues and Use at large in our Seplasium, Lib. 4. Cap. 65. Sect. 4. ad 8.

XII. * Linteum Crocatum, Saffron Cloth, or Stay.

Bate.] It is made by boiling Linnen Cloth with Saffron ʒſs. in Rue-water, q. s. and drying it. It is constantly bound under the Chin, during the coming forth of the Small-Pox.

Salmon.] § 1. It is an Opinion among the good Women, that a Saffron Stay being applyed to the Chin or Throat of the Child, in the coming out of the Small-Pox will keep them out of the Throat, but what real efficacy it has upon that account, I cannot tell.

§ 2. This I am sure of, that a Gargle made of Saffron and Cochinele, A. ʒſs. Claret Wine ℔j. double refined Sugar ℥ſs. will do feats in that kind, and is much more effectual, than all the external Applications in the World.

XIII. * Masticatoria, Spitting Balls.

Bate.] ℞ Mastich ʒiij. Pyrethrum, Staves-acre, A. ʒij. Angelica-root ʒſs. Cubebs, Nutmegs, A. ʒj. Euphorbium ℈ſs. Wax q. s. mix and make a Mass, of which make Masticatories, S. A. That is to say, Spitting-Balls, or a large sort of Pills, to be often chewed. They cause Spitting, purge the Brain, and help against Thickness of Hearing, Palsies, and Diseases of the Head proceeding from Cold. They cure also the Tooth-ach.

Salmon.] § 1. You are to put one of the Balls into your Mouth, and constantly to chew it for some time, a quarter of an hour, or half an hour, more or less, constantly spitting out, as it attracts the Rheum or Spittle.

§ 2. It is good to be used in case of Defluxions upon any Part, especially upon the Eyes, Teeth, Jaws, or Throat: it removes a Catarrh, and by often and long using, evacuates the Morbifick cause of a Rheumatism.

§ 3. It is said to be a singular thing to give ease in the Tooth-ach, though the pain be never so extream.

XIV. * Mixtura Tubularis, A Mixture for the Pipe.

Bate.] ℞ The outward Hulls of Pistaches ℥ij. Colts-foot, Betony, Rosemary, all dried, A. ʒiij. let them be cut, and add Raspings of Lignum Sanctum ℥iij. white Amber, Olibanum, grosly bruised, A. ℥ſs. Mastich ℥j. distilled Oil of Nutmegs ʒj. make a Mixture; to be taken as you take Tobacco. Or thus: ℞ Betony, Colts-foot, A. ℥ij. Rosemary Flowers

Flowers, outward Pistach shells or hulls, A. ℥j. Cardamoms the less ℥ss. cut them, S. A. and add Oil of Aniseeds, gut. xvj. Oil of Cinnamon, gut. viij. mix them. Some add of the best Tobacco cut ℥j. It is chiefly useful in drying up Catarrhs, stopping of Fluxes of Rheums, Coughs, &c.

Salmon.] § 1. What Vertue there can be in the outward Hulls of Pistaches for this use, I can scarcely tell; in my Judgment, if as much dryed Sage, or Winter Cinnamon prepared, were added in the place thereof, or rather Pimento, the Composition would be much better for the Uses it is intended.

§ 2. It is good to dry up Fluxes of Rheums, stop Catarrhs, ease the Tooth-ach, help Coughs, expectorate Flegm, and take away the cause of a Rheumatism, being taken in a Tobacco-pipe, in the same manner as you take Tobacco.

XV. Nodulus Facialis, A Nodulus for the Face.

Bate.] ℞ Barley parched, q. v make it into fine Flower, which tie up in a Lawn Rag into a Nodule. With which strew the Face, about the Eleventh Day after the coming out of the Small-Pox: it very much defends the Face against Scars and Pitting.

Salmon.] § 1. The same thing may be done with the Indian Maize, where English Barley is not to be had, and it yields in parching, both a greater quantity of Flower, and better for the purpose, than the other.

§ 2. And for want of either of these, you may take unhulled Rice, (in those places where it grows) which will answer the same end.

§ 3. But if the Rice be hulled, it will not parch well, so as to be reduced to a soft flowery substance, but in the parching it will grow dry and hard, the same understand of Barley.

XVI. * Nodulus Hystericus, A Nodule against Fits of the Mother.

Bate.] ℞ Castor in fine Pouder ʒss. Assa Fœtida ℈j. Oil of Amber ℈ss. mix, and tie it up in a bit of Silk in form of a Nodule. Let it be often held to the Nostrils in time of the Fit.

Salmon.] § 1. If you add to it gut. iv. of Oil of Hartshorn, it will be much the better for this purpose.

§ 2. It is good to smell to (for such as are troubled with Vapours, or Hysterick Fits, or such as are apt to these Distempers, but not usual with them) at other times, by way of prevention, in which cases I have known it used with success.

XVII. * Panis Diasarsæ, Bread of Sarsaparilla.

Bate.] ℞ Sarsaparilla ℥iij. China ℥j. Caraways whole ʒj. fine Wheat-flower ℥xvj. Yolks of Eggs, N° ij. a little Yest or Barm; with Milk q. s. mix and make a Paste, of which make Loaves to be baked in an Oven. It may be eaten as ordinary Bread, in the French Pox.

Salmon.] § 1. It sweetens the Blood and Juices, and is of good use in other Diseases, where acid and moist Humors abound, as the Scurvy, Dropsie, Gout, Rheumatism, Catarrh, &c.

§ 2. If it be baked hard like Bisquit, it will keep longer, eat better better, and be more profitable to the sick.

XVIII. * Panis de Vipera, Viper Bread.

Bate.] ℞ Pouder of Vipers flesh ℥j. Sarsaparilla ʒiij. finest Wheat-flower ℔i. Yolk of one Egg, Yest a little: Milk q. s. mix and make a Paste, of which make four little Loaves or Cakes, which bake in an Oven, S. A. Let it be used as common Bread, in the Cachexy, Scurvy, Leprosie, French-Pox, &c.

Salmon.] § 1. Let this as the former be made into the form of Bisquits, and baked dry and hard like them.

§ 2. Besides these particular Uses mentioned, it is a most singular thing to restore in Consumptions.

XIX. Pasta Halieutica, A Paste or Bait for Fishes.

Bate.] ℞ Henbane-seeds ℥ss. strong old Cheese, Cocculus Indi. A. ℥iss. Wheat meal two spoonfuls, Aqua Vitæ four spoonfuls, Honey q. s. mix and make a Paste, S. A. Break it into very small bits, and cast it into divers places of the Water, and it will draw the Fish.

Salmon.] § 1. You may break it into small bits, about the bigness of White Pease: but it ought to be cast in, in a proper Season for Fishing, which such as are acquainted with the Art know best.

§ 2. And tho' the Fish seem to be dead, yet they may be eaten safe enough, and will eat as well as if taken by other means.

XX. Pasta Hippiatri, A Paste or Horse-Medicine for Farriers.

Bate.] ℞ Pouders of Fenugreek, Aniseed, Cumin-seed, Carthamus, Elecampane, Colts foot, Flowers of Sulphur, A. ℥ij. Juice of Liquorice (dissolved in Whitewine ℔ss.) ℥j. Oil-Olive, Honey, A. ℥viij. Genua Treacle ℥xij. Oil of Aniseeds ℥j. mix all together, and with Wheat-meal ℔ss. vel q. s. make a Paste, S. A. of which make Balls about the bigness of a Mans Fist. Dissolve one of them in cold Water, q. s. letting the Horse drink it all up at a time; this do Morning and Evening for fifteen days; in which time it will certainly cure such Horses as are troubled with Asthma's, Coughs, and several other internal Diseases: it makes such fat as are wasted and poor, and makes healthy such as are infirm and diseased.

Salmon.] § 1. This Medicine will do much better in a strong Decoction of Ground Malt, Anglice Wort, and given as hot as 'tis convenient for the Beast to take it in.

§ 2. And to speak without any thing of a Complement, it is a good thing for what it is intended, and beyond many other Horse-Medicines of the Shops, much valued and esteemed in the World.

XXI. * Pasta Hypoglottida, A Paste to take away the Asperity of the Larynx.

Bate.] ℞ White Sugar-candy in fine Pouder ℥iv. Oil of sweet Almonds new drawn ℥j. vel q. s. beat them well into a Paste, S. A. Hold a little thereof often in the mouth.

Salmon.]

Salmon.] § 1. It is of singular use against Coughs, Colds, Shortness of Breath, difficulty of Breathing, Wheasings, Hoarsness, and other Distempers of the Larynx, Breast and Lungs.

§ 2. Let it be held five, six, or seven times a day, or more, in the Mouth, and suffered to distil down at leisure; more especially let it be used at such times as the Cough is present and troublesome, but at other times at discretion.

XXII. Pasta Regalis pro Emulsionibus, The Royal Paste for Emulsions.

Bate.] ℞ White Poppy-seed ℥j. Sweet Almonds blanched ℥iv. Eryngo-root condited ℥ij. The four greater cold Seeds, Ana. ℥ss. Sugar-candy ℥ij. mix and beat them into a Paste, S. A. At time of using it: ℞ Of this Paste ℥j. Aqua hordeata ℔j. mix and make an Emulsion, S. A.

Salmon.] § 1. It is singular good against pain, heat, and sharpness of Urine, or scalding thereof, making of bloody Urine, or pissing Blood, and the like.

§ 2. The Patient may drink a Draught of the Emulsion about Eight in the Morning: Another Draught about a Eleven a Clock: a Third at Four in the Afternoon: and the last at Night going to Bed.

§ 3. But you ought to be cautious, that the Coldness thereof may not hurt the Stomach, if any thing be perceived, add to the Emulsion ℥j. of Aqua Mirabilis.

XXIII. * Pisa Lutea, Yellow Pease.

Bate.] ℞ Yellow Oker ℥ss. Florentine Orrice-root ʒij. Wax ℥j. Turpentine, q. s. so as it may be made up into the form of Pease of various Magnitudes. They are used to keep open Issues.

Salmon.] § 1. That is the principal Intention, and where they are apt to dry up, or will not easily be kept open, they are much better than white Pease.

§ 2. They draw gently, and abates Inflamations, which are sometimes usual in those kinds of Sores.

XXIV. * Pisa Rubra, Red Pease.

Bate.] ℞ Vermilion ℥ss. Hermodactis ʒij. Wax ʒvj. Turpentine, q. s. make it up into the form of Pease.

Salmon.] § 1. These are stronger than the former, and attract Humors more powerfully, by reason of the addition of the Hermodactis.

§ 2. But they do it gently, and without any evil Symptoms, by reason of the Artificial Cinnabar, or Vermilion, which powerfully corrects all Accidents.

XXV. * Pisa Virida, Green Pease.

Bate.] ℞ Verdigrise, white Hellebore, A. ʒij. Cantharides ʒj. Root of Florentine Orrice ʒiss. Wax ʒvj. Turpentine, q. s. Or you may make them of Verdigrise, Cantharides, A. ʒij. Auripigmentum ℈ss. Wax ʒij. Turpentine q. s. mix them. They are used for Issues.

Salmon.] § 1. These are yet stronger than the former, and design'd to make their own way, where the Patient will not permit the use of the Knife.

§ 2. Afterwards, way being made, the Pisa Rubra may be applied till the Issue is compleat, and runs well, which done, the Pisa Lutea may lastly be used for a constancy.

XXVI.

XXVI. Pomum Ambræ, Pome-Ambers, or Sweet-balls.

Bate.] ℞ Styrax Calamita ʒvj. Benjamine ℥j. Labdanum ʒij. white Sanders, Cloves, A. ʒiſs. Marjoram, Damask Roſe-Leaves, A. ℈iv. Musk, Ambergriſe, A. ℈ſs. Mucilage of Gum Tragacanth (made with Damask Roſe-water) q. s. or ſo much as may make up the Ingredients into a Paſte for Balls, S. A. Being held to the Noſe, they ſtir the Blood by their grateful Odor, and chear the Heart above meaſure, in Apoplexies, Epilepſies, Peſtilential Airs, &c.

Salmon.] § 1. If they be made into the uſual Magnitude for Pills, they may be taken every Night going to Bed, ad ʒj. againſt the ſame Diſtempers, and that way uſed they will be more powerful to the Intentions, than by bare ſmelling to them.

§ 2. Beſides which, being firmly made up into little Beads, and bored thro' the middle, they may (when dry) be put in order upon a String, and worn as a Necklace about the Neck.

XXVII. Pilæ Odoratæ, Sweet Balls.

Bate.] ℞ Venice Soap ℥vj. Styrax Calamita, Benjamine, A. ℥ſs. Marjoram ℈iv. Cloves, № 12. Musk, gr. ij. Damask Roſe-water, q. s. mix and make Balls, S. A. They cleanſe well, and have a grateful Scent, comforting the Nerves, Skin of the Hands, &c. They ſerve to waſh withal.

Salmon.] § 1. It is good to waſh in the Morning with them, for cleanſing, and whitening the Skin, the conſtant uſe of which will make it very pure and ſoft.

§ 2. It is good to waſh the Head alſo with them in a warm Larder, which is troubled with Scurf, Dandrif, or other Deſædations uſual to theſe parts.

XXVIII. Suffimentum Hyſtericum, An Hyſterick Fume.

Bate.] ℞ Aſa fetida ℥j. Rue, M. j. beſt Wine Vinegar ℔j. boil them in a Pot with a narrow Mouth, S.A. The hot Fumes are to be received often in a day up the Mouth (being open) and Noſtrils.

Salmon.] § 1. If at the ſame time the Patient takes fifty or ſixty Drops of the Liquor inwardly in any proper Hyſterick water, it will be much more effectual.

§ 2. But uſing it as a Fume, there ought to be added to it Oil of Hartſhorn ℥ſs. whereby the Power of it for this purpoſe will be ten times increaſed.

XXIX. * Torquis Infantium, A Necklace for Children.

Bate.] It is made of the male Peony-root and Henbane root freſh gathered, cut into round pieces and bored thro' the middle, and ſtrung in order upon a Thread or String. Which being wrapped in fine Linnen or Lawn, are to be worn about the Neck in the time of breedding of Teeth. They are ſaid to facilitate the breeding of Teeth, and prevent Convulſions.

Salmon.] § 1. It is uſed as an Amulet, in which I believe there is no more Vertue for driving away Pains in breeding of Teeth, than there is in the Words being worn about the Neck as a Pentacle.

§ 2. But for such as have Faith in the thing (and I know not but their Faith may do the Work) they may put it about their Childrens Neck, and let them wear it as long as they are breeding their Teeth.

§ 3. If in this time, the Child should be cross and froward, and peevish, with the anguish of its Teeth cutting, the Parent or Nurse must wholly blame themselves (and not the Medicine) for that they were People of little Faith.

XXX. * Turundæ Acoustiæ, Ear Tents to help the Hearing.

Bate.] ℞ Galbanum, Ship Pitch, A. ʒij. white Hellebore in fine Pouder ℈v. Civet, gr. vj. mix them, divide the Mass into eight or ten parts, making each into the form of a Clove; which wrap or tie up in a very thin piece of fine Linnen or Lawn, fixing a Thread to the greater end thereof, for the more easie pulling it forth again out of the Ear. It is one of the best of Remedies against Deafness.

Salmon.] § 1. It may be a good thing for all that I know, but I have had no Experience of it, and therefore only recommend it to your Prudence in making Tryal.

§ 2. I must confess, I admire not the white Hellebore in it (because it is of a putrefactive Quality) and within ℈j. it is nearly half as much as the rest of the Ingredients; but possibly the Emplastick Bodies of the Gum and Rosin, may so chain or fetter it up, as that it may do no great mischief.

CHAP. XI.

Orthotonia Verborum Medicinalium.

THis last Chapter, shewing the true Pronuntiation of certain Medicinal Words, is added for the sakes of such Apothecaries and others, who, by reason of Ignorance, or from meer use, are wont to pronounce them false, without regard to their true Quantities, which are here noted, to avoid that Error: In those words, whose penultima is not marked, it is to be taken as Common.
